COLLEGE STUDENTS IN FIERCE CLASS FIGHT

Brown, Class 1912, Has Double Dislocation of Collar Bone.

MANY OTHERS INJURED

Joseph Snyder, of Altoona, Among Those Hurt—Freshmen and Sophomores Clashed at Game of Push Ball---Carried 30 Off Field.

One student was seriously injured and upward of fifty more or less bruised up in a clash between the Freshmen and Sophomore classes at State College last Saturday. But little information in the way of actual facts has been allowed to leak out, the students refusing to talk about the matter or treating it lightly.

It is known that one student, named Brown, a member of the class of 1912, sustained a double dislocation of the collar bone and that his condition is such that he is still confined to his bed. It is also known that another student, Joseph Snyder, of Altoona, a Sophomore, was hurt. A student whose name has not been disclosed had a rib crushed in. The others injured, from what could be learned as late as last night, have recovered. Some are wearing black eyes.

Snyder, who is a relative of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ceader, of this place, was first reported to be in a critical condition. When inquiry was made by the Ceader family it was met with the response that Snyder was hurt but that his injuries were not serious. Nevertheless the family have thus far been unable to get into touch with Snyder over the telephone.

All told thirty or more students were carried off the field, unconscious or exhausted.

From what few details have filtered out it appears that the Freshmen and Sophomore classes clashed in a game of push ball, played on the old Athletic Field. There were upward of 425 students on the Freshmen side and probably 330 Sophomores present. It was said that the large number of accidents was due to the fact that few if any of the students were familiar with the game. Push ball is played with a large ball, the one class trying to push it across a given line and this being resisted by the opposing class. Although one student after another was carried off the field the game was continued to a finish, the Sophomores winning 2 to 1.

REUNION OF 110th REG'T.

Twenty Survivors of Famous Organization Meet Here.

The annual reunion of the famous old 110th Regiment, Penna. Vols., was held in Bellefonte on Friday of last week and an interesting time was experienced by those in attendance. Twenty of the survivors of the old regiment were present and after a business session they made merry with an old-fashioned campfire in the evening.

Business meetings were held in the morning and afternoon in the rooms of Gregg Post, No. 95, reports being made in regard to the association, deaths of members, etc. In the evening quite a number of members of other regiments joined with the "boys" of the 110th in the campfire. Clement Dale, the lawyer, delivered the address of welcome. Others to speak included Rev. John Hewitt, John A. Daley, William H. Musser and Francis Speer.

The 110th Regiment was recruited chiefly from Centre and Huntingdon counties, saw much service and won many victories during the Civil War.

Abe Baum Selling Livery.

Pretty nearly everybody in Centre County will be surprised to learn that Abe Baum is to sell his livery stable on Wednesday, October 27. He plans disposing of his stock and entire outfit. His horses include some of the best in the county. One naturally associates Abe Baum with horses and for many years he has been a successful liveryman. Here's wishing him luck, whether he retires from business or is again attracted back into the livery business. We venture the prediction it will be the latter.

Horse Show Excursion.

On account of the horse show at State College, Saturday, October 23, the Bellefonte Central Railroad Company will sell tickets from all stations at one fare for round trip. No ticket sold for less than 50 cents.

VORHIS—BUDINGER

Fashionable Wedding of Popular Couple at Snow Shoe.

A pretty and fashionable wedding was that at Snow Shoe at 12.30 o'clock yesterday when Miss Effie Budinger, of that place, and Robert Raymond Vorhis, of South Lorain, Ohio, were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed in the Methodist Episcopal Church and was witnessed by about 125 guests from New York, Ohio and points in this State. A wedding reception at the home of the bride followed the ceremony at the church, after which the happy young couple departed on their honeymoon. They will be "at home" after November 1, at 713 Thirteenth Street, South Lorain, Ohio. Last night a large dance was given at the Budinger residence for the visiting wedding guests.

The wedding ceremony at the church was very pretty, the bride being given in marriage by her father, Thomas B. Budinger. Her sister, Miss Edith Budinger, was maid of honor, while Miss Lucinda Folsom Vorhis, of Yonkers, N. Y.; Miss Maude E. Budinger, of Snow Show, and Miss Louise Garman Maitland, of Williamsport, were bridesmaids. Miss Patsy Budinger was flower girl and W. Cordes Snyder, Jr., was the ring-bearer. Helen Budinger and Elizabeth Seeds, the latter of Altoona, were color-bearers. Harold B. Rowland, of Yonkers, N. Y., was the groomsman, while the ushers were Lawrence Folsom Vorhis, a brother of the groom; Albert Kelly, of Bellaires, Ohio, and Frederick Hirsh Johnston, of Clearfield.

Of interest to all present and many others was the announcement made during the day of the engagement of Miss Maude Budinger to Harry E. Mann, of Mill Hall. No date has been selected for the wedding.

KEENER—CORL.

A pretty romance had its culmination on Thursday last when Miss Nannie C Corl, of Pleasant Gap, became the wife of James M. Keener, of Anaconda, Colorado. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride, who is a daughter of the late Benjamin and Margaret Corl and a sister of James Corl, associated with Henry Kline, in the shoe business here. Mr. Keener at one time resided near Montandon but about 30 years ago he went West and engaged in mining. Since that time he has met with much success. Six or seven years ago he visited Centre County and while here met Miss Corl. Their engagement followed but she was unwilling to leave her aged parents. Her mother died some time ago. Several weeks ago her father also passed away. Mr. Keener came to Pleasant Gap and urged that the wedding be no longer delayed. Tomorrow Mr. and Mrs. Keener will depart for Colorado Springs, taking with them the congratulations and best wishes of many friends.

HARTSOCK—FURST.

A wedding which was of interest to a wide circle of friends was that on Tuesday of last week when Miss Ethel M. Furst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Furst, of Stormstown, became the wife of Thomas C. Hartsock, of Buffalo Run. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. L. Frank in the Methodist Episcopal parsonage, at Stormstown. The young couple enter married life with the best wishes and congratulations of a host of friends. Mrs. Hartsock is a talented and accomplished young woman and will grace the home which her husband has provided. Mr. Hartsock conducts a growing business in the East End, Altoona. Mr. and Mrs. Hartsock will be "at home" at No. 409 Seventh Street, Altoona, on their return from their wedding trip.

SMITH—STOVER.

A wedding of interest throughout Centre County was that at Millheim on Sunday when Mrs. Harriet Terressa Stover and former Prothonotary William F. Smith were united in marrige. Mr. Smith is well known in the county and during his time as Prothonotary made many friends in Bellefonte. With many others we extend hearty congratulations and best wishes.

SPOTTS—WOODRING.

A wedding of a popular young couple from Port Matilda was that at Petersburg yesterday, the bride being Lillian K. Woodring, daughter of Aaron Woodring, and the groom Ernest T. Spotts, a prosperous farmer. Mrs. Spotts is a niece of County Commissioner Jacob Woodring and has many warm friends. Mr. and Mrs. Spotts will make their home at Port Matilda.

STONEBRAKER—NAPIER.

A pretty wedding was that at Philipsburg on Monday when Niss Elizabeth B. Napier, of Hudson, became the bride of George M. Stonebraker, a well known young civil and mining engineer. The ceremony was performed in the United Brethren parsonage, Rev. W. G. Fulton officiating.

CONFESS TO ROBBING FUEL AND SUPPLY CO.

Henry Gordon Lodged in Jail After Admitting Crime.

BROKE DOOR OF SAFE

Joseph Wagner, Implicated in Affair, Released Because of His Youth and for Aiding Police Stolen Bicycles Led to Their Arrest.

What the police believe clears up the mysterious robberies in Bellefonte in the last few weeks was the arrest on Monday evening of Henry Gordon and Joseph Wagner on a warrant sworn out by Chief of Police Dukeman. About ten days ago the office of E. K. Rhoads, the coal dealer, was broken into and several dollars stolen from the cash drawer. Last Friday night Gordon and Wagner forced their way into the office of the Bellefonte Fuel & Supply Company. The lock on the safe was broken and the door pried open, although the thieves were unable to find any money. Two bicycles, a pair of boots belonging to George Waite and several other things were stolen.

The bicycles led to the detection of Gordon and Wagner and the former is now in jail. Wagner, who is only 15 or 16 years of age, confessed that he and Gordon had broken into the Bellefonte Fuel & Supply Company office but denied that they had anything to do with the robbery at the office of E. K. Rhoads. Because of his youth and the fact that this was his first arrest and also that he had made a clean breast of the affair he was released.

In the judgment of Justice Keichline Wagner was a victim in the hands of Gordon, who is about 28 years old and experienced in crime. He recently was released from the Georgie federal prison, where he served a sentence for robbing a mail car of the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania. Prior to that he was sentenced to the Huntingdon reformatory for a robbery at Curtin. He was out of the reformatory on parole at the time he was convicted of robbing the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania mail car. He was also implicated in the robbery of Miller's hardware store several years ago.

A third boy was suspected of complicity in the robbery at the Bellefonte Fuel & Supply Company office, but he was released on the statement of Gordon and Wagner that he had no hand in the affair.

When Matt. Dooly returned to his work at the Bellefonte Fuel & Supply Company office on Saturday morning he was startled by the fact that the safe door was open. Examination disclosed that the lock had been broken and the door pried open. Further inspection showed that two bicycles and other things were missing. The police were notified and the bicycles were found concealed in a shed at Crider's lumber yard. A close watch was kept on the shed and finally the guilty parties were discovered taking the machines away. Chief Dukeman took charge of Wagner and after some urging the latter broke down and confessed. He told of Gordon's part in the work but denied that they had figured in the robbery at the office of Mr. Rhoads. Calling in assistance to keep watch over Wagner Chief Dukeman then arrested Gordon. The latter, when confronted with the fact that Wagner had made a clean breast of the affair, acknowledged his guilt. Justice Keichline committed him to jail to await trial.

Several robberies were evidently planned for Saturday night, but in each instance the thieves were frightened off before they could gain entrance to the houses. They were first driven away from the residence of J. L. Montgomery. Wilbur Baney, employed in Yeager's shoe store, saw the men and they quickly disappeared. That same night the two men were found loitering about the residence of Register Earle C. Tuten. They were again frightened off before they could secure anything of value.

The police believe that with Gordon out of the way there will be fewer robberies in Bellefonte in the future.

Millheim's New Bank.

Millheim's new bank, the Farmers' National, opened its doors last Friday morning, It is capitalized at $25,000, with Dr. George Frank as president, and John Eby, as cashier. The directors are Aleman Frank, Henry Duck, Dr. George Frank and L. E. Stover, of Millheim; Ex-County Superintendent C. L. Gramley and Dr. Bright, of Rebersburg; John Rouse, Madisonburg; Henry Philips, Harvey Krouse, Aaronsburg; Mr. Peeler, Spring Mills; and Mr. Fisher, Penn Hall.

SNAKE STORY--ALMOST

Scotia Residents Excited Over Mystery of 15--Inch Eel.

A 15 inch eel has given the residents of Scotia a mystery which threatens to remain a subject for argument for many months to come. Were it not for the fact that the details are vouched for by men known for their veracity we would be disposed to class the yarn with those usually told about snakes. With one eye to the truth we will class the tale as a snake story -- almost.

Scotia experienced many months of depressing idleness owing to the closing down of the ore mines. Several weeks ago the mines resumed operation. The Bellefonte Furnace Company owns a dinkey engine at Scotia and for a long time it was out of commission. When the word was given to start work at the mines Engineer W. H. Farber at once set about to clean the dinkey engine and get it ready for business.

Noticing there was something wrong with the pump Mr. Farber made a close inspection and to his amazement found an eel in the water tank. Efforts to capture it alive met with no success. Raw steam was then turned into the tank and in this manner the eel was killed. When measured it was found to be 15 inches in length.

How did the eel get into engine? This is what is puzzling every man who works at the Scotia mines, and none more so than Engineer Farber. The only water used in the engine was drawn from a well 465 feet deep. The water was conveyed to the engine through 150 feet of one and one half inch pipe. If the eel got into the engine via the route of the well, how did it find its way into the well? The nearest stream is six miles or more distant from the well. One of many theories advanced is that the eel found its way through some underground stream. But this is only a theory. The only thing the men at the mines are sure of is that the eel was in the engine. How long it was there before being discovered nobody assumes to know. Incidentally pretty nearly everybody at Scotia would like to have this question answered:

How old is the 15 inch eel?

Does anybody know?

ACCIDENT AT FURNACE

Rails Spread Upsetting Loaded Cinder Pot—No One Hurt.

The first accident since work was resumed at Nittany furnace was that on Tuesday afternoon when spreading rails upset a loaded cinder pot. The cinder pot was badly damaged but fortunately no one was injured.

For a minute or so the men in charge of the cinder pot were badly frightened. The rails spread so suddenly and unexpectedly that the big cinder pot was thrown to one side almost before the men realized what had happened. For a few seconds it was feared that some of their number had been covered by the molten metal. All hands were accounted for, however, and the men thereupon proceeded to repair the damage to the car.

Foot Ball on Saturday.

What should be a good game of foot ball is scheduled for Saturday afternoon on Hughes field, when Dickinson Seminary and Bellefonte Academy elevens clash for supremacy. Dickinson has a fast team and the Bellefonte Academy boys are putting up a splendid game, so that there is every indication that the crowd will be well entertained. Let everybody attending Saturday's game go prepared to pay 25 cents at the gate. This is a pointer to those who have got into the careless habit of neglecting to pay to see these games.

Returns to Bellefonte.

We were somewhat suprised but nevertheless greatly pleased with the announcement on Tuesday by W. L. Malin that he has returned to Bellefonte and that he is here to stay. He resigned from the West Shore Telephone Company last Friday and is now the District Manager of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, with headquarters at Bellefonte. Mr. Malin has not made his headquarters here for 27 years. His many friends welcome him back to Bellefonte. May he live long and prosper.

Elks to Give Entertainment.

The "Centre County Fair" is the name of an entertainment to be given in the near future for the benefit of the Elks' charity fund. An interesting feature will be a children's chorus, the personnel being limited to the young folks of the town. The fact that the Elks have the matter in hand is a pretty good indication that the entertainment will be a pleasing success.

FIRES ARE LIGHTED AT NITTANY FURNACE

Miss Katherine Musser Applied Torch Last Friday.

FIRST CAST OF 95 TONS

Daily Output is Steadily Increasing and 120 Men are Back at Work Bellefonte Furnace Will be Ready to Resume Operation About Nov. 1.

The exclusive announcement in "The Republican," on August 5, that the Nittany furnace would be put into blast, became a reality at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon, last, when Miss Katherine Musser applied the torch that started the big plant on what we trust will be a period of greater success than ever. Little ceremony marked the resumption of operations. The first casting was 95 tons of iron, and since that time the daily output has gradually increased.

The lighting of the fires made happy not only the officers of the company but also the 120 men restored to employment at Nittany. This is the full quota at that place.

It is believed that the Bellefonte furnace will be ready to resume about November 1. It was necessary to reline the furnace before it could be put into blast. As soon as this is completed the plant will be in full swing, giving employment to about 150 men.

The Scotia mines resumed several weeks ago and the first pay day for the men was attended with no little rejoicing in that community.

With the two furnaces and the Scotia mines in full operation and Lingle's machine shops and foundry showing more activity than was known there for many months there are comparatively few idle workingmen in and about Bellefonte. A few pay days at the several plants will give everything a more cheerful atmosphere than Bellefonte has felt since the severest stage of the general business depression.

JOHN EDMAN

Well Known Resident of Howard Passes Away.

John Edman, formerly of Chicago, but who for several years made his home with his daughter, Mrs. C. C. Lucas, at Howard, died at the latter place at 7 o'clock Friday morning of the infirmities of age. Deceased was born at Selinsgrove, November 12, 1831. He was married to Rebecca McKean at Milton, March 1, 1855. For some years they resided in Clinton county and then removed to Chicago. His wife having preceded him to the grave he decided to reside with his daughter at Howard. Surviving him are five sons, all in Chicago, and the one daughter, Mrs. Lucas. Five sisters also survive. Mr. Edman was a member of the Lutheran church, a man of many good qualities and was well thought of by the people of the community where he resided. The funeral took place Monday afternoon at one o'clock, services being conducted by Rev. W. W. Rhoads. Inment was made in the cemetery at Curtin.

MRS. GEORGE SHARP.

Mrs. Nora Sharp, wife of George Sharp, died at her home near the Nittany furnace last Wednesday evening at six o'clock. Mrs. Sharp had been ill more than a year with dropsy and heart disease. She was a daughter of Israel and Ellen Young, of Boalsburg, and was aged about 40 years. Surviving her are her husband, one daughter, Martha, her parents, and the following brothers and sisters: William, of Boalsburg; Charles, of Nebraska; Harry, Calvin and Thomas, of South Dakota; Frank, of Salina, Ks., Mrs. Elizabeth Shuey, of Freeport, Ill.; Mrs. Jacob Straw, of New Castle; Mrs. Levi Rhone, of Lemont; Leitzell and Ruth, at home. Funeral services were at the late home Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in charge of Rev. Barry, of the Bellefonte Lutheran church. Interment was made in the Boalsburg cemetery.

WALTER WENSEL.

On Wednesday morning of last week Walter Wensel, of Howard, died at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Jerome Confer, at Yarnell. He was taken ill with diabetes last spring while teaching school at Pine Grove Mills and had to resign on account of his health. He was a son of Mrs. Cora Wensel Baney, of Howard, and was aged about 22 years. He was an intelligent young man with a promising future and the friend of all wherever he was known. Surviving are his mother, one sister, Agatha, and two brothers, Arthur and Gregg. The funeral took place Friday from the Confer home and interment was made at Marsh Creek.

WILLIAM H. MAYES.

The sad news was received in Philipsburg on Monday of the death at Homestead that day of William H. Hayes. He was a former and highly respected resident of Philipsburg, and was employed as a brakeman on the railroad. He was caught between two cars in the Union freight yard, at Homestead, and instantly killed. Deceased was about 63 years old, was born at Osceola and for many years was a conductor on the Allegheny Valley railroad. He was a Mason and a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

CHARLES RUSSELL BENTON.

The death angel entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Benton, at Pine Glenn, on Saturday morning, last, and took their bright little son. He was aged three years and twenty-seven days. Charles was a great favorite with the little folks and his pretty face will be missed. The deep sympathy of the community of Pine Glenn is with the family. Funeral services were held on Monday at 1 o'clock, interment being made in Askey cemetery.

WILLIAM GROSS.

William Gross, an old soldier, died on Sunday morning at the home of his grand-daughter, Mrs. H. E. Womer, at State College. He was a member of Co. F. Second Penna. Cavalry. Interment was made on Tuesday in the Meyers cemetery.

Dr. VanTries' Lecture.

Dr. Thomas C. VanTries has been invited by the ladies of the W. C. T. U. of Indiana, Pa., to deliver his lecture at that place on Monday evening, Nov. 2. Dr. VanTries has had prepared a pretty pamphlet announcing his lecture and presenting a number of strong testimonials from "The Republican" and other newspapers as well as from many prominent citizens of Bellefonte. On the cover page of the leaf-let is a handsome portrait of Dr. VanTries. He announces that he will be pleased to make arrangements for the delivery of his lecture before church socities, Y. M. C. A's., W. C. T. U's., G. A. R. Posts or other benevolent organizations.

LAWYERS ARE FOR VON MOSCHZISKER

Splendid Testimonial to the Republican Candidate.

LEADERS OF THE BAR SPEAK

[Special Correspondence.]

Philadelphia, Oct. 19.

An unusual tribute has just been paid by members of the Philadelphia bar to Judge Robert von Moschzisker, Republican nominee for the supreme bench.

Fourteen of the most prominent practitioners, headed by the acknowledged leader of the profession, John G. Johnson, and including Attorney General M. Hampton Todd, former Attorney General Hampton L. Carson, former Judge of the Superior Court W. W. Porter, former District Attorneys George S. Graham and John C. Bell, Senator Ernest L. Tustin, Alexander Simpson, Jr., George Wharton Pepper, Owen J. Roberts, Joseph DeF. Junkin, Henry P. Brown, Samuel M. Hyneman and Francis Shunk Brown have united in an address to the members of the bar of the state in support of Judge von Moschzisker's candidacy.

It is a purely non-partisan document, as among the signers are Democrats and well-known independent voters, as well as members of the Republican party.

It is an unsolicited, genuine and sincere indorsement, prompted solely by a desire to have the citizens of the tate recognize the importance of ecting a thoroughly competent and absolutely trustworthy man to the highest court in the commonwealth.

Address to Pennsylvania Bar.

To the Lawyers of Pennsylvania—

Irrespective of political affiliations we, as members of the bar of Philadelphia, knowing Judge von Moschzisker as a man, as a lawyer and as a judge, in view of his nomination for the office of associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, desire to express to the profession throughout the commonwealth, the opinion entertained, we believe, by this bar generally of his entire fitness for that high office.

Intelligent by nature, a close student, fond of research, with an acute, alert and discriminating mind, with an unusually retentive memory and wide experience in legal and other affairs, he is quick to comprehend, though deliberate in the maturing of his judgment. He combines with knowledge of the law, keen logic, sound judgment and clear, forcible expression.

During his six years of service upon the common pleas bench of this county he has displayed thorough conscientiousness, great industry and capacity for work, united with absolute fearlessness, freedom from narrowness or prejudice and the ability to dispatch legal business in the most practical way.

Six reversals, with almost 400 written opinions delivered, is a remarkable record, and testifies most strongly to his accuracy and the thoroughness of his grasp of facts and law.

Judge von Moschzisker has the esteem and good will of this bar and this community as a self-reliant and courageous man, as a good citizen and an able, considerate judge.

Judge Von Moschzisker's Strength.

The nomination of Judge von Moschzisker has met with popular support, and his candidacy has been growing stronger every day since the Republican convention adjourned.

The closer his record on the common pleas bench is studied, the better are his admirable qualities appreciated. Known as the "writing judge" among his colleagues on the bench Judge von Moschzisker has long been looked upon as one of the most industrious and painstaking jurists in the state. He delights in delving into his law books and frequently works way into the night preparing his opinions, which are models of thought and accuracy of expression, and which form an important part of the jurisprudence of recent years.

Judge von Moschzisker has not been seen upon the stump in this campaign, nor will he he, and he has not even taken occasion to visit other parts of the state since his nomination as he entertains pronounced views regarding the impropriety of a candidate for the supreme court making a canvass for votes or in any way taking part in a political campaign. He is daily engaged in the performance of his duties as a judge on the common pleas court of this city and has declined every invitation to public functions which might in any way be construed to be of a political character.

Munson's Political Campaigning.

His Democratic opponent is C LaRue Munson, of whom the Scranton Truth recently had this to say:

The Democratic candidate for judge of the supreme court, C. LaRue Munson, is swinging around the state soliciting votes to put himself on the bench of the highest judicial tribunal in the commonwealth. He is going into the counties, holding conferences with the politicians of his party, and individually seeking voters.

This is something new. The people of Pennsylvania have never before been diverted by so interesting a spectacle as a candidate for the exalted place of judge of the supreme court whirling around in a personal canvass of the state. Searching back through all the years since the adoption of the present constitution, the Democratic candidate himself would be unable to find a precedent for it. The sentiment, made and ever maintained by the people which holds high judicial office above such methods, has always been respected heretofore by those who have been honored with a nomination.

The Democratic candidate seems to have a less exalted view of the place he seeks, and to think he can promote his cause by thrusting aside what has become an unwritten and should be an inviolable law. The duties of a judge of the supreme court are of the most delicate and responsible character—too delicate and responsible to be exposed to a compromising personal campaign for votes. The office has never been pulled down to that level, and no one has ever before thought he could pull himself up to the office by such methods.

The Democratic candidate will not benefit by those methods now. The people of Pennsylvania have too high an appreciation of the proprieties to look with either patience or favor upon a personal canvass by a candidate for judge of the supreme court.

Championing the Worm.

An incident that occurred some years ago during a session of the British parliament furnished an amusing illustration of the power of satire to bring about results that sober argument often fails to accomplish.

There had been introduced a bill designed to prevent cruelty to wild animals in captivity. It was opposed on the ground that, if passed, it would endanger certain kinds of legitimate sport.

When the Earl of Kimberley arose he gravely admitted the force of this argument.

"There can be no doubt," said he, "that the bill would put an end to fishing with worms as bait. It is a bill to prevent cruelty to wild animals in captivity. The schedule states that the word 'animal' shall be held to include reptile. A worm may be held to be a reptile. A worm impaled on a hook must certainly be held to be in captivity; therefore the angler who uses a live worm for bait would be guilty of cruelty to an animal in captivity."

The laugh that followed at the expense of those against the bill robbed the opposition of whatever force it had and carried the measure to a successful issue.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Sun Cooking.

Sun cooking—roasting and boiling by sunlight instead of by coal or gas—has been going on for 300 years. There are sun stoves that roast a sirloin or boil a soup to perfection. They are only used, however, by scientists. A sun stove consists mainly of a mirror—a spherical mirror—on a joint. There is also a reflector. The place for pot or plate is so situated that the mirror's rays can be focused on it accurately.

A German, Baron Tcherhausen, was the first sun cook. He began in 1687 to boil water, and in 1688 he had very good success in boiling eggs. Sir John Herschel and Buffon are other famous names associated with sun cooking. In California various sun cooks have boiled a gallon of water in twenty minutes, roasted meat in two hours and poached eggs in fifteen minutes, quite as good time as the ordinary fire makes.

An odd thing about meat roasted by sun rays is that it has an unpleasant taste. This is avoided by the insertion of a plate of yellow glass between the meat and mirror. In all solar stoves the sheet of yellow glass figures.—London Tit-Bits.

One Sided Gambling.

"One need only to try his luck at any of the Riviera gambling palaces to learn how slender are the chances to win at roulette," says a German correspondent writing from Ostend. "But if he would experience the gambler's disadvantage at its best let him come to Ostend and join the baccarat players. The game as it is played gives the man who places his money against the bank no chance whatever, and if it were known how much money is sacrificed in a season in the endeavor to win by luck and by system the public would be horrified. It is nothing unusual for the bank to win twenty-four times before an outsider wins once. The people who play, if they have ever played before, know this, and still they come again, respond to the call until they depart and plant their gold in the baccarat mire in the hope that it will bear fruit. It does. But what is the harvest?"

Faithful to His Trust.

I was waiting near the elevator in the factory building for my friend to come down when I noticed a small boy sitting in one corner of the hall holding a large, thick sandwich. He eyed the sandwich lovingly for a long time, then he carefully lifted off the top slice of bread, took out a piece of dill pickle, ate it and replaced all as before. In a few seconds he again removed the top piece, extracted a piece of pickle and a piece of meat and replaced the top. Again and again the performance was repeated until all the pickle and almost all the meat were gone, the sandwich, however, appearing intact as in the beginning.

"Why don't you eat up your sandwich and not pick at it in that way?" I asked the boy with some curiosity.

"Why," he answered, looking up with great innocence, "it ain't my sandwich."—Woman's Home Companion.

PENROSE ACTIVE IN CAMPAIGNING

Senator Knows Necessity of Big Republican Vote.

IMPORTANCE OF TARIFF ISSUE

Pennsylvania Must Give Emphatic Indorsement of Payne Bill and Silence the Western Tariff Tinkers.

No one better than Boies Penrose realizes the importance of the campaign now under way in Pennsylvania.

No one better than Boies Penrose appreciates the far-reaching effect of a sweeping Republican victory in this state upon national conditions and national politics, and no one better than he understands how a reduced Republican vote and a reduced Republican majority would be heralded as a lack of confidence in the policy of protection which Pennsylvania's representatives in Washington so steadfastly championed at the recent session of congress.

Senator Penrose is therefore taking an unusually active part in the present state campaign.

He has made a number of speeches and he is giving much time to assisting the Republican state organization in the effort to get a large Republican vote to the polls on Nov. 2. He attended the convention of the State League of Republican clubs at Altoona, has made several speeches in Philadelphia, expects to visit Pittsburg to address a meeting on Oct. 28, and he will then return to Philadelphia to participate in the big Republican rally arranged by the Republican Business Men's association, which is to be held in Hammerstein's Opera House, the great temple of music in the Quaker City, which for the first time will be used for a political gathering. It was only due to the prominence of the members of the Business Men's association and the interest of the merchants and manufacturers of the city in the success of the Republican ticket that the opera house was secured.

Great Tribute to Penrose.

Senator Penrose has missed no opportunity to emphasize the importance of the tariff situation to Pennsylvanians. He has just been the recipient of one of the greatest testimonials ever given an American statesman.

The observation of "Penrose day" in the textile district known as Kensington was an event in the history of Philadelphia. The senior United States senator accepted invitations to visit a number of industrial plants, and he was given ovations at every place he stopped by thousands of mill workers, as well as the proprietors of the various establishments, in recognition of his services in protecting those interests in the framing of the Payne tariff bill. Flags were flying from the homes of many of the wage earners in the mill district and the factories were gaily decked with bunting. At each stopping place men and women assembled, and after listening to a short address from him upon the subject of the tariff and the benefits that have been derived from protection, they cheered the senator lustily. Employes, both men and women, made speeches thanking him on behalf of their colleagues.

In the evening of the same day over five hundred representative manufacturers, coming from various states of the Union, assembled at the Bellevue-Stratford and lauded Senator Penrose for the part he took in the great fight for protection so recently. Representatives of the wage earners were also heard from at this gathering.

Senator Penrose is making earnest appeals to Republicans of the state to roll up a majority such as will leave no question of Pennsylvania's position on the tariff issue and be a service of notice upon revisionists that further tinkering with the tariff will not be tolerated.

Some Curious Weathercocks.

The weathercock had its origin at a very early date. Marcus Virtruvius Pollia, a noted Roman architect and engineer, who was born about 80 B. C., in his works calls a vane a triton, probably because in his time it had the form of a triton. The usual form on towers, castles and secular buildings was that of a banner, but on ecclesiastical buildings it was a representation of the male of the barnyard fowl. There have been other forms of vane. The one over St. Peter's, Cornhill, London, is in the shape of a key; that over St. Mildreth's church is a gilt ship under full sail. The grasshopper of the Royal Exchange, London, is the vane that formerly surmounted the former exchange. The dragon on the spire of Bow church, Cheapside, is another celebrated vane. One of Mother Shipton's prophecies was that when the dragon of Bow church and the grasshopper of the Royal Exchange should meet the streets of London would be deluged with blood. In what way they should meet the old dame did not explain, but it is known that at one time these two vanes were side by side in the yard of a stonemason in Old Street road, yet there was no shedding of blood.—London Answers.

A man is never appreciated in his home town, and he is usually not known in other places, and there you are.—Atchison Globe.

Entertaining and Hospitality.

I have no sympathy with the tired murmur of the straining women who speak of entertaining as "a duty to society." We all have duties to society, but entertaining is not one of them. There is no more obligation for a woman to entertain than there is for a man to swap horses with a neighbor. The conditions as they now exist are identical. The neighbor may desire to swap his horse, but no man feels bound on that account to exchange his own for it against his wish. Since I have recognized the market value of my own horse and how much I am always expected to give "to boot," I never swap.

The real and usually neglected duty to society is hospitality, and that has an important distinction from entertaining. It is hospitality only when the entertainment is without hope of reward. The moment the host hopes to receive in exchange even a good opinion, a little affection or admiration it ceases to be hospitality and becomes entertaining. The foundation of hospitality must be perfect unselfishness.

The question left us to solve in individual cases is, Which will give the most satisfaction as society is now organized?—Ethel Davis in "Dishonesty and Caste."

A Traveler's Tale.

The passengers were beguiling the journey with pleasant conversation. One man in particular, who had the look of a traveler, told of long sojourns in foreign lands and kept them all interested with his anecdotes. "Yes, gentlemen," said he, "there is nothing like travel to expand the mind. Now, I don't suppose, for instance, that many of you have ever seen a beet root putting on a waistcoat?" His fellow passengers stared in surprise. "No; we certainly have not!" "Or a lettuce donning a pair of trousers?" "No!" "Or a spring onion fixing on its tie and collar!" "No, not even that!" "Well, gentlemen," said the traveler as the train drew up at the terminus and he prepared to alight, "you may believe me or not, as you like, but several times in my travels I have seen not only a beet root or a lettuce or an onion but a whole salad dressing!"—London Mail.

One of Wisconsin's Mothers

Who Always Keeps Pe-ru-na in the House.

Mrs. Alvina Plamann.

"I am now able to do my housework again, and have a good appetite. I have used thirteen bottles of Peruna and one of Manalin. My husband and children are also in good health. We always keep Peruna in the house. I thank you a thousand times for your advice."—Mrs. Alvina Plamann, 1914 Walnut St., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

If any one really wanted to find out whether or not Peruna is good for the baby who would he naturally ask? Some one who never used Peruna? Some one who is prejudiced against Peruna? Some one actuated by selfish motives who is opposing Peruna for the sake of the notoriety?

Would any sane person who really wanted to know about Peruna ask any of these people? Of course not.

Who would they ask? They would ask mothers who have raised babies and used Peruna for their babies times without number. They would ask the parents who love their families, and know more about Peruna than all the professional writers in the world.

Above we give the portrait and testimonial of one of the mothers who has used Peruna, and who has raised healthy and happy babies. We have many more such mothers in every state in the Union. These mothers give their testimonials entirely unsolicited, without pay or expectation of pay. Their only desire is to point out to other mothers a useful and reliable family medicine.

Colonel John Sneed's Conversations on Domestic Problems

Copyright, 1909, by C. S. Yost.

II.—The Disillusionment of Matrimony.

ON his way downtown the other morning Colonel Sneed stopped at his daughter's house to deliver a lemon pie recipe intrusted to him with some misgivings by Mrs. Sneed. The front door was ajar, and, assuming the prerogative of a father, he entered without ringing the bell.

Young Mrs. Rollins was not expecting a visitor at that hour. Her attire was decidedly negligee. She had evidently slipped into the first thing that came handy when she arose and had deferred until a later and more convenient season most of the essentials of a woman's toilet. It is unnecessary to go into details.

"Good mornin', honey," said the colonel as he bent down for the affectionate salutation, and then as his eye took in her deficiencies he exclaimed:

"Why, child, what's the matter? Not sick, are you?"

"Oh, no, papa," replied his daughter, with a laugh. "I'm all right. But you shouldn't call on a lady so early, daddy, dear. I haven't dressed yet."

"Uh, huh; I see," he assented. "Makes an almighty lot of difference, don't it? Never caught you lookin' that way before you was married. Does—does William—was you wearin' that garb, honey, when he left you this mornin'?"

"APPEARANCES COUNT FOR A WHOLE LOT."

"Why, of course, papa. I can't dress before breakfast like I was going to a ball, can I? I have to do all my housework, and"—

"Yes, I know," interrupted the colonel, "but—but have you got the habit of goin' around like that?"

"I'm afraid I have, papa. But what is one to do? It takes time for a woman to dress. I have to get breakfast for Will. I can't cook or attend to any housework in my nice clothes, and even if I could it would take me so long to put them on he'd be late to the office. You know I'm without a servant just now, but if I had one I don't see how I could dress for breakfast. Besides, papa, all women go the same way in the morning."

"Yes, honey, I know the argument, but have you ever had your photograph taken in that mornin' costume?"

"Why, no, papa. Of course not."

"And if you had," went on the colonel, "would you want Bill to put it in a silver frame and sit it up on his desk where he could see it all day?"

"The very idea! I'd like to catch him making a show of me that way."

"Well, little girl, that's about what he does in fact. He carries a photograph of you all the time. It isn't on his desk, where other people can see it. It's fixed in a golden frame in his mind, and every once in awhile through the day it slips around in front of his mind's eyes, and he takes a long look at it. It isn't always the same picture he sees. Most of the time it's you as you would like to be seen, fixed up your prettiest, but sometimes it's you as he saw you last, as you looked when he left you in the mornin'. You know, dearie, you're mighty apt to remember a person by the appearance at partin', and the oftener Bill carries away with him a vision of breakfast time dowdiness the oftener it's goin' to pop into his

"Appearances count for a whole lot in this world, and I believe they count for more in a man's feelin's toward a woman than in anything else. In nine cases out of ten it's appearances alone that attract a lad and a maid. That's part of the Almighty's scheme for bringin' men and women together. Every girl wants to look her best when her beau's comin' around, and that's right, that's nature. Didn't you rig up in the nicest clothes your pa's money could buy for you when Bill was doin' his courtin'? Didn't you prance around before a lookin' glass for an hour at a time tryin' to get everything just so and look your prettiest for him? Of course you did. And he's still carryin' some of those pictures around in his head, and once in awhile he gets them out and wonders why there's such a difference.

"There isn't any real difference, honey. It's just appearances. You haven't lost any good looks since you married. You're just as pretty and as sweet and as good as you were then—maybe a little more so. When you're all fixed up in the evenin' I have to admit that Mrs. William Jackson Rollins don't play second fiddle to Miss Sallie Sneed. You're all right then, little girl; you're all right now. But appearances have just as much to do with keepin' a man as they have with gettin' him, and the mornin' appearance has more influence than the evenin', for it stays longer; it goes downtown and spends the day with him.

"Now, I'm not sayin', my dear, that a woman ought to rig up in her best clothes before breakfast and go through all the funny business of a reception toilet. I don't mean that—not by a whole heap. That would be no more right than for Bill to go down to work in a full dress suit. There's a time for all things, as Shakespeare or Solomon remarked some time back, but I don't know of any proper time, honey, for dissolute kimonos, untied shoes and unkempt hair. These wrapper things the women have got to wearin' nowadays ought to be prohibited by law, if that would do any good. They were designed, I reckon, for the hours of luxurious ease and for loungin' around in a boudoir. Maybe they ain't so bad. But they wasn't cut out for workin' garbs. They're as much out of place in the kitchen as a velvet gown. Yet it's got so that half the women in this country fall out of bed every mornin' into more or less soiled and bedraggled kimonos. I think I'd be willin' to see a war with Japan just to get even with her for this kimono habit. It's a lazy dress, and I tell you, honey, it's downright demoralizin'—that's what it is. It's so easy to get on it makes a woman careless about everything else. Instead of bein' neat and trim as she ought to be in the mornin', whether she's doin' her work or overseein' it, she gets to lookin' dowdy and slouchy. You can't help it, little girl; it's the influence of the garb. And I'd be willin' to bet a horse against a second hand burro," and here the colonel pounded on the arm of his chair with his fist, "that kimonos have had a good deal to do with what they call the matrimonial unrest. A man goes off downtown leavin' his wife lookin' like she'd just escaped from a fire sale, an' the first thing he puts his eyes on at his office is a stenographer in a clean shirt waist. If you think he don't notice the difference you're badly mistaken, my dear. Maybe he don't make eyes at the typewriter girl, maybe his love is so strong it don't affect his feelings the least bit, but all the same he notices it. And I wouldn't take the risk, honey. But—my, my"—the colonel was looking at his watch—"I can't stay here all day preachin' to you. I've got to get down to the office. So goodby, little girl, and—say, I'll be over this evenin' to see how you look."

A STENOGRAPHER IN A CLEAN SHIRT WAIST.

It Pays to Do Right.

I've noticed—and I don't sleep except when I go to bed—I've noticed that the people who come nearest to bein' happy in this world are the ones who come nearest to doin' right. To do right all the time, to do the square thing by your friends and your enemies, by everybody as well as by yourself, is a pretty hard proposition, and there's mighty few—I doubt if there's any—that succeed entirely. But it's been my experience that it pays to try, and the dividends seem to be exactly in proportion to the success. We're all lookin' for happiness. We've got a good many different ideas about what it is, but whatever it is we want it, and if we've got hoss sense we want the brand that'll last the longest an' keep the best. That brand is especially prepared and reserved for those who do right, or as near right as they can. Nobody else can get even a smell of it. And there's no institution or agency that'll help a man to do right like the church. It's got the right of way on the straightaway track. It's got the road all surveyed and charted. There's lots o' people in the church that we don't like, and there's lots o' people in the church, no doubt, who don't like us. But take it all round the fact remains that the church people are the best people, not only in the spiritual but in the material sense. Don't forget that.—Colonel John Sneed.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION SUBMITTED TO THE CITIZENS OF THIS COMMONWEALTH FOR THEIR APPROVAL OR REJECTION, BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, AND PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH, IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVIII OF THE CONSTITUTION.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing amendments to sections eight and twenty-one of article four, sections eleven and twelve of article five, sections two, three, and fourteen of article eight, section one of article twelve, and sections two and seven of article fourteen, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, and providing a schedule for carrying the amendments into effect.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following are proposed as amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:—

Amendment One—To Article Four, Section Eight.

Section 2. Amend section eight of article four of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:—

"He shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney General during pleasure, a Superintendent of Public Instruction for four years, and such other officers of the Commonwealth as he is or may be authorized by the Constitution or by law to appoint; he shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen, in offices to which he may appoint, during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session; he shall have power to fill any vacancy that may happen, during the recess of the Senate, in the office of Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs or Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a judicial office, or in any other elective office which he is or may be authorized to fill; if the vacancy shall happen during the session of the Senate, the Governor shall nominate to the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper person to fill said vacancy; but in any such case of vacancy, in an elective office, a person shall be chosen to said office at the next general election, unless the vacancy shall happen within three calendar months immediately preceding such election, in which case the election for said office shall be held at the second succeeding general election. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal," so as to read as follows:—

He shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney General during pleasure, a Superintendent of Public Instruction for four years, and such other officers of the Commonwealth as he is or may be authorized by the Constitution or by law to appoint; he shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen, in offices to which he may appoint, during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session; he shall have power to fill any vacancy that may happen during the recess of the Senate, in the office of Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs or Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a judicial office, or in any other elective office which he is or may be authorized to fill; if the vacancy shall happen during the session of the Senate, the Governor shall nominate to the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper person to fill said vacancy; but in any such case of vacancy, in an elective office, a person shall be chosen to said office on the next election day appropriate to such office, according to the provisions of this Constitution, unless the vacancy shall happen within two calendar months immediately preceding such election day in which case the election for said office shall be held on the second succeeding election day appropriate to such office. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal.

Amendment Two—To Article Four, Section Twenty-one.

Section 3. Amend section twenty-one of article four, which reads as follows:—

"The term of the Secretary of Internal Affairs shall be four years; of the Auditor General three years; and of the State Treasurer two years. These officers shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at general elections. No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms," so as to read:—

The terms of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, the Auditor General, and the State Treasurer shall each be four years and they shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at general elections but a State Treasurer, elected in the year one thousand nine hundred and nine shall serve for three years, and his successors shall be elected at the general election in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve, and in every fourth year thereafter. No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms.

Amendment Three—To Article Five, Section Eleven.

Section 4. Amend section eleven of article five, which reads as follows:—

"Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, justices of the peace or aldermen shall be elected in the several wards, districts, boroughs and townships at the time of the election of constables by the qualified electors thereof, in such manner as shall be directed by law, and shall be commissioned by the Governor for a term of five years. No township, ward, district or borough shall elect more than two justices of the peace or aldermen without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township, ward or borough; no person shall have resided within the township, borough ward or district for one year next preceding his election. In cities containing over fifty thousand inhabitants, not more than one alderman shall be elected in each ward or district," so as to read:—

Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, justices of the peace or aldermen shall be elected in the several wards, districts, boroughs or townships by the qualified electors thereof, at the municipal election, in such manner as shall be directed by law, and shall be commissioned by the Governor for a term of six years. No township, ward district or borough shall elect more than two justices of the peace or aldermen without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township ward or borough; no person shall be elected to such office unless he shall have resided within the township, borough ward or district for one year next preceding his election. In cities containing over fifty thousand inhabitants, not more than one alderman shall be elected in each ward or district.

Amendment Four—To Article Five, Section Twelve.

Section 5. Amend section twelve of article five of the Constituton, which reads as follows:—

"In Philadelphia there shall be established, for each thirty thousand inhabitants, one court, not of record, of police and civil causes, with jurisdiction not exceeding one hundred dollars; such courts shall be held by magistrates whose term of office shall be five years and they shall be elected on general ticket by the qualified voters at large; and in the election of the said magistrates no voter shall vote for more than two-thirds of the number of persons to be elected when more than one are to be chosen; they shall be compensated only by fixed salaries, to be paid by said county; and shall exercise such jurisdiction, civil and criminal, except as herein provided, as is now exercised by aldermen, subject to such changes, not involving an increase of civil jurisdiction or conferring political duties, as may be made by law. In Philadelphia the office of alderman is abolished," so as to read as follows:—

In Philadelphia there shall be established, for each thirty thousand inhabitants, one court, not of record, of police and civil causes, with jurisdiction not exceeding one hundred dollars; such courts shall be held by magistrates whose term of office shall be six years, and they shall be elected on general ticket at the municipal election, by the qualified voters at large; and in the election of the said magistrates no voter shall vote for more than two-thirds of the number of persons to be elected when more than one are to be chosen; they shall be compensated only by fixed salaries, to be paid by said county; and shall exercise such jurisdiction, civil and criminal, except as herein provided, as is now exercised by aldermen, subject to such changes, not involving an increase of civil jurisdiction or conferring political duties, as may be made by law. In Philadelphia the office of alderman is abolished.

Amendment Five—To Article Eight, Section Two.

Section 6. Amend section two of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"The general election shall be held annually on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto," so as to read:—

The general election shall be held biennially on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each even-numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto: Provided, That such election shall always be held in an even-numbered year.

Amendment Six—To Article Eight, Section Three.

Section 7. Amend section three of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"All elections for city, ward, borough and township officers, for regular terms of service, shall be held on the third Tuesday of February," so as to read:—

All judges elected by the electors of the State at large may be elected at either a general or municipal election, as circumstances may require. All elections for judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and for county, city, ward, borough, and township officers for regular terms of service, shall be held on the municipal election day; namely, the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each odd-numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto: Provided, That such election shall always be held in an odd-numbered year.

Amendment Seven—To Article Eight, Section Fourteen

"District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen annually by the citizens. Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled, as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election, and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record or judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony, or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service," so as to read:—

District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen biennially, by the citizens at the municipal election; but the General Assembly may require said boards to be appointed in such manner as it may by law provide. Laws regulating the appointment of said boards may be enacted to apply to cities only: Provided, That such laws be uniform for cities of the same class. Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled, as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election, and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record or judge thereof, for an election fraud for felony, or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service.

Amendment Eight—To Article Twelve Section One.

"All officers, whose selection is not provided for in this Constitution, shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law," so as to read:—

All officers, whose selection is not provided for in this Constitution, shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law: Provided, That elections of State officers shall be held on a general election day, and elections of local officers shall be held on a municipal election day, except when, in either case, special elections may be required to fill unexpired terms.

Amendment Nine—To Article Fourteen Section Two.

Section 10. Amend section two of article fourteen, which reads as follows:—

"County officers shall be elected at the general elections and shall hold their offices for the term of three years, beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election, and until their successors shall be duly qualified; all vacancies not otherwise provided for shall be filled in such manner as may be provided by law," so as to read:—

County officers shall be elected at the municipal elections and shall hold their offices for the term of four years, beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election, and until their successors shall be duly qualified; all vacancies not otherwise provided for shall be filled in such manner as may be provided by law.

Amendment Ten—To Article Fourteen Section Seven.

Section 11. Amend section seven, article fourteen, which reads as follows:—

"Three county commissioners and three county auditors shall be elected in each county where such officers are chosen, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five and every third year thereafter; and in the election of said officers each qualified elector shall vote for no more than two persons, and the three persons having the highest number of votes shall be elected; any casual vacancy in the office of county commissioner or county auditor shall be filled, by the court of common pleas of the county in which such vacancy shall occur, by the appointment of an elector of the proper county who shall have voted for the commissioner or auditor whose place is to be filled," so as to read:—

Three county commissioners and three county auditors shall be elected in each county where such officers are chosen, in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven and every fourth year thereafter; and in the election of said officers each qualified elector shall vote for no more than two persons, and the three persons having the highest number of votes shall be elected; any casual vacancy in the office of county commissioner or county auditor shall be filled by the court of common pleas of the county in which such vacancy shall occur, by the appointment of an elector of the proper county who shall have voted for the commissioner or auditor whose place is to be filled.

Schedule for the Amendments.

Section 12. That no inconvenience may arise from the changes in the Constitution of the Commonwealth, and in order to carry the same into complete operation, it is hereby declared that—

In the case of officers elected by the people, all terms of office fixed by act of Assembly at an odd number of years shall each be lengthened one year, but the Legislature may change the length of the term, provided the terms for which such officers are elected shall always be for an even number of years.

The above extension of official terms shall not affect officers elected at the general election of one thousand nine hundred and eight; nor any city, ward, borough, township, or election division officers, whose terms of office, under existing law, end in the year one thousand nine hundred and ten.

In the year one thousand nine hundred and ten the municipal election shall be held on the third Tuesday of February, as heretofore; but all officers chosen at that election to an office the regular term of which is two years, and also all election officers and assessors chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven. All officers chosen at that election to offices the term of which is now four years, or is made four years by the operation of these amendments or this schedule, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirteen. All justices of the peace, magistrates, and aldermen, chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen. After the year nineteen hundred and ten, and until the Legislature shall otherwise provide all terms of city, ward, borough, township, and election division officers shall begin on the first Monday of December in an odd-numbered year.

All city, ward, borough, and township officers holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of December of that year.

All judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and also all county officers, holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of January, one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold.

A. S. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed only to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." Sold by C. M. Parrish.

No matter how long you have suffered, Foley's Kidney Remedy will help you. Mrs. S. L. Bowen, of Wayne, W. Va., writes: "I was a sufferer from kidney disease, so that at times I could not get out of bed, and when I did I could not stand straight. I took Foley's Kidney Remedy. One dollar bottle and part of the second cured me entirely." It will cure you, Sold by C.M. Parrish.

DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled for anything where salve is needed, but it is especially good for piles. Sold by all druggists.

Accidents will happen, but the best regulated families keep Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for such emergencies. It subdues the pain and heals the hurts.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

Tribute to Judge von Moschzisker.

Leaders of the bar in Philadelphia have accorded Judge von Moschzisker the honor of heartily indorsing his candidacy for Justice of the Supreme Court. Read what these lawyers have to say and then glance at their names which rank at the very top of the legal profession in Philadelphia:

Six reversals with almost four hundred written opinions delivered is a remarkable record, and testifies most strongly to his accuracy and the thoroughness of his grasp of facts and law.

Judge von Moschzisker has the esteem and good will of this Bar and of this community as a self-reliant and courageous man, as a good citizen, and as an able, considerate Judge.

On the other hand we find that the Hon. C. LaRue Munson, Judge von Moschzisker's opponent, has the indorsement of the Hon. Jim. Guffey.

A "Non-Partisan" Candidate.

Many Pennsylvania newspapers are commenting approvingly upon the dignified attitude of Judge Robert Von Moschzisker in the campaign. The people of the State generally will concur in Judge Von Moschzisker's views regarding the way a candidate for election to our highest judical tribunal should conduct himself. Soon after the Republican State convention a committee, appointed by the presiding officer of that body at a meeting in Philadelphia, formally notified the candidates on the ticket of their nomination. In his speech of acceptance, Judge Von Moschzisker said:

"The candidate for judicial office occupies a different position from other candidates. Under our customs he is nominated by the party convention and may reasonably look for the usual party support. But he is not in a position to discuss politics or the policies of his party."

In other words, Judge Von Moschzisker considers it not only unseemly but a violation of the sacred traditions of the Supreme Court for a candidate for that bench to enter a campaign as a practical politician and make a tour of the State, personally soliciting votes. His Democratic opponent, Mr. Munson, does not agree with this conception of how a candidate for Supreme Court Justice should behave. Mr. Munson either does not comprehend the ethics of the situation or does not respect them. The Democratic candidate is endeavoring to reach the voters in two ways. He is writing them letters asking for their support and is meeting them personally. His political tour of the State is the one striking feature of the Democratic campaign. He is the only candidate on the Democratic ticket who has bestirred himself. Realizing that he cannot be elected by Democratic votes, he hopes to secure Republican support as a "non-partisan" candidate. Not tha the is a "non-partisan", far from it. He is a Democrat, and a good enough Democrat for Colonel Guffey to nominate at his personally conducted State convention. Mr. Munson is severely criticized for his undignified and compromising campaign. But aside from that, why should any Pennsylvania Republican vote for the candidate of the Democracy for Supreme Court Justice? No other man who has ever been nominated for that office was better equipped to fill it than is Judge Von Moschzisker. The Republicans of Pennsylvania know this, and he will receive their votes.

Mr. Munson will be no more successful as a "non-partisan" candidate than he will be as a Democratic candidate. There is absolutely no reason why he should.

"By Me Personally."

Dating with his nomination by the Democratic State convention the candidacy of C. LaRue Munson for Supreme Court Justice has been accorded a mysterious financial support which has attracted fully as much attention as has his unprecedented exhibition in making a campaign tour of the State. Tons of Munson campaign literature, costing thousands of dollars, have been shipped into every county in Pennsylvania. Receptions have been held in every nook and corner and at each one Mr. Munson has bobbed up with unfailing regularity. Regardless of the expense involved nothing has been overlooked which might procure him votes.

Thus far the candidacy of Mr. Munson has been aggressively advanced and that of J. Wood Clark and George W. Kipp, the Democratic nominees for Auditor General and State Treasurer, has been neglected and ignored. They are being sacrificed and shoved into the background for Mr. Munson's benefit. Several months in advance of the Democratic State convention it was known that Mr. Munson was slated for the nomination. Since the convention everything else has been sidetracked in a desperate barter for Munson votes. The campaign being waged for him is the most costly known for any candidate for Supreme Court Justice in the history of the State.

Why? Who has tapped a barrel? Who is so anxious to own a member of the Supreme Court that thousands of dollars are being poured into the campaign?

Colonel James M. Guffey the man who so bitterly attacked William Jennings Bryan at the Denver national convention, several days ago addressed a secret letter to his agents over the State urging redoubled activity for Mr. Munson. In the closing sentence of his letter Colonel Guffey lets the cat out of the bag and explains the mystery as to the wild desire to put Mr. Munson on the Supreme bench.

"Your efforts," he writes in his secret letter to his agents, "will be appreciated not alone by the candidates and the party but BY ME PERSONALLY."

"BY ME PERSONALLY!"

Why appreciated PERSONALLY by Colonel Guffey? Why?

Is it because Colonel Guffey is pulling every wire to re-establish his ownership of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania that he wants to own a member of the Supreme Court? How do the friends of William Jennings Bryan in Centre County view this matter? Is not this the same Guffey they aided Bryan in throwing out of the Democratic National Committee? Is not this the same Guffey whose leadership but a few months ago was so abhorrent to the "Centre Democrat" which is now so vociferously applauding Munson?

Colonel Guffey of today is the same Colonel Guffey whom Bryan denounced as unfit for leadership. The Colonel Guffey of then is the same Colonel Guffey who now writes his agents:

Help Munson and it will be appreciated "BY ME PERSONALLY."

Even were Mr. Munson so conducting himself as to be in keeping with and to show respect for the dignity of the Supreme bench, which he is not, his being so branded with the personal tag of Guffey makes his candidacy positively objectionable to every voter in Pennsylvania except the little coterie that dangles at Guffey's coat-tails.

On Friday night last a political mass meeting was held at Pottsville. It was heralded as a meeting of "independent voters," and was addressed among others by Henry C. Niles, a former State Chairman of the Lincoln party. But a short time ago Colonel Guffey's Democratic party nominated Lewis Emery for Governor. Mr. Emery was also the Lincoln party nominee. After the convention Guffey and every Guffey agent in Pennsylvania knifed Emery, thus betraying the so-called "independent voters" who were identified with the Lincoln party. Are these "independent voters" likely to forget that betrayal and reward Guffey for his treachery by now supporting the Guffey candidate, Mr. Munson? We think not. Why did Colonel Guffey knife Mr. Emery? Was it not because Mr. Emery was not a Democrat? Now Colonel Guffey would like to have Republicans vote for Mr. Munson who is a Democrat.

Mr. Munson has chosen to cast his lot with the Guffey outfit. The mask is off. He thus forfeits all claim on the support of every Bryan Democrat in Centre County. They owe it to their leader to let Mr. Munson and Colonel Guffey stand together at the polls. The Bryan Democrats in the county had become tired and weary of Guffey. They carried their burden to Bryan and he fought their battle and through him their victory was won. Without Bryan they would have lost and Guffey in revenge would have driven every mother's son of them outside the Democratic party. If they have the courage of their convictions they will teach Colonel Guffey at the polls in November that they have not forsaken Bryan and that they are not ungrateful for his efforts in their behalf at Denver.

They also will serve notice on Colonel Guffey that they have no interest in the Munson candidacy and its "BY ME PERSONALLY" tag.

A Long Time Dying.

Mr. Fred Terry told this anecdote of the death scene in "The Heel of Achilles:"

"One day," he says, "we were rehearsing this play, and a member of my company came in from the street and asked the call boy how far the rehearsal had got.

"'Mr. Terry's just dying,' replied the boy.

"'Good. I've time to smoke a cigarette before my entrance.'

"Presently the actor returned and repeated the question.

"'Still dying,' answered the boy.

"'Oh, I'll go and have another cigarette, then.'

"Back he came and only got the same reply from the call boy.

"Finally, after smoking five cigarettes, he asked, a little wearily, how far the rehearsal had gone.

"'Still dying,' answered the call boy.

"'Great Scott!' gasped the actor. 'He must be immortal.'"—London Answers.

Nothing Was the Matter.

"A newsboy I knew," said a yachtsman, "took to the sea. He became cabin boy on a tramp collier. He was a good boy, but—

"Once, when our white squadron was at Newport, this collier steamed in her slow way shoreward with her ensign unside down, the signal of distress—distress of the direst. Instantly a pretty sight was to be seen. Every warship in the fleet lowered a lifeboat, and all of those beautiful, snowy boats, manned by jackies in spotless white duck, raced for the grimy old collier at breakneck speed—a pretty sight indeed. The captain of the collier stood on the bridge. He waved his hat, and the crews pulled all the faster. As they drew close they heard the man's cries.

"'Come on! Pull! Get down to it!' he roared, dancing about wildly.

"'What's the matter, captain?' the first officer to reach the collier asked breathlessly.

"'Why, nothing's the matter,' the captain answered in a surprised voice.

"'Then why's your ensign upside down?'

"The captain looked aloft, then frowned.

"'It's that boy Hank again,' said he. 'And here I thought it was a regatta.'"

STATE TO INCREASE INSTRUCTION TRAINS

Prof. Surface Plans Elaborate Campaign Against Orchard Pests.

FIGHT SAN JOSE SCALE

Railroad Companies Co-operate With State Officials in Extending Demonstration Trains—Deep Interest Being Manifested.

"The demonstration trains to show the farmers and fruit growers of Pennsylvania how to fight San Jose scale and other pests of the orchard and fruit yard will start out about the fifteenth of November," said State Zoologist Surface at Harrisburg several days ago. "I am in correspondence with the railroads now about trains and I think we shall have several trains and visit sections of the State where we could not penetrate last year.

"The Cumberland Valley Railroad Company, which gave us the first train for the start of the demonstrations, has offered us a train over the entire system. The Pennsylvania has also offered trains and I am taking up the matter with the Reading," continued Dr. Surface.

"It may be that we will have two trains going at once, one in the Eastern part of the State and one in the Western. I am anxious to help the people of the Western section and in addition to a demonstration train will make several visits to that part of the State to visit orchards and make addresses on fighting the pests. You would be surprised to learn the interest taken in the fight against tree pests. People who scoffed at it a year or so ago are now writing to me to send demonstration trains to their counties and I am going to do it.

Light and Dark Cigars.

A striking example of the ordinary smoker's ignorance on the subject of smokes is the popular superstition that a dark looking cigar is stronger than a lighter colored one. Some strong cigars have dark wrappers, but the dark wrapper does not by any means indicate a strong cigar. Dark, gummy tobacco, if thoroughly cured, is the mildest form. Of course if dark tobacco is not thoroughly cured it will be strong, but so will light tobacco, for that matter. Any cigar man will bet you that the dark color is usually, though not always, a sign of a ripe, well cured leaf, which is therefore milder nine times out of ten than the lighter hued leaf. But when it is known that every manufacturer makes both dark and light cigars and that he uses exactly the same blend of filler in both and that the wrapper only constitutes a small fractional part of the cigar it is clearly seen that the shade of the wrapper has little to do with the strength of the cigar. Ask the dealer for a strong cigar. He hands out a dark one, and the imagination does the rest.—Harper's Weekly.

How Spiders Undress.

It is an interesting sight indeed to watch a spider change its skin and one that will well repay any one for the time taken up by waiting for the little known—generally speaking—event to take place. When preparing for the change the spider stops eating for several days and makes his preliminary arrangements by fastening himself by a short thread of web to one of the main lines of his snare, this to hold him firmly while he proceeds to undress. First the skin cracks all round the thorax, being held only by the fore part. Next the lower part of the body is uncovered, and then comes the struggle to free the legs. He works and kicks vigorously, seeming to have a very hard time of it. Fifteen minutes of continued perseverance, however, brings him out of his old dress, the struggle causing him to appear limp and lifeless for some time after it is finished.

Just Pleasantness.

Perhaps just pleasantness has not a very heroic sound, but the human heart that, knowing its own bitterness, can yet carry itself cheerfully is not without heroism. Indeed, if that human heart does no more than hold its tongue about its own aches and pains it has a certain moral value that the world cannot afford to lose. "Pleasantness" does not sound as well as self sacrifice or wisdom or spirituality, but it may include all these great words. And certainly just to start one's husband out to his work cheerily, to make the hobbledehoy of a son feel a gentler and sweeter sentiment toward women because of his own mother's sound, sweet gayety and strength, to help one's servants to put good humor and friendliness into their services—these things make for righteousness in the world.—Margaret Deland.

It Didn't Work Out Just Right.

I saw the best of intentions become a veritable boomerang on Broadway the other night. A policeman had arrested for some small disturbance two well dressed men who had evidently had too much, but were facing the inevitable trip to the station without any further fuss. A friend saw their plight and rushed up.

"Officer," he piped in a peculiarly effeminate voice, "I beg that you will not arrest these men. Why, they are no more drunk than I am."

"Oh, very well," said the cop. "I'll take you too."

And he did.—New York Telegraph.

WHEN WOMEN VOTE.

Not a Self Respecting Man Will Stay Away From Polls.

I have a letter from a man, says Dorothy Dix, who is really intelligent enough to know better, who says:

"If women had votes there is not a self respecting man who would go to the polls. He will let the country go to perdition in the hands of that abnormal and unnatural creature, the masculine woman, and things will the sooner right themselves by a political, social and economic cataclysm that will drive the brazen females back to their proper places—the kitchen and the nursery."

Let us hasten to assure this modern Jeremiah that his gloomy prophecies are without foundation. The time will come when women will vote, and yet not a self respecting man will stay away from the polls because he is liable to meet there his mother, his sisters, his female cousins and his aunts.

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating," says the old adage, and we base our belief on this happy outcome of woman's suffrage on the fact that in the countries where women do vote they have not kept a single man, self respecting or otherwise, from exercising his privilege as a free man to express his opinion by means of a ballot. In the four western states where women vote and where men are quick on the trigger it certainly wouldn't be safe to tell any gentleman that he was a poor, emasculated squaw man because he went to the polls at which women also voted. In New Zealand, Australia, the Isle of Man, Finland and Norway women have full suffrage, and if the self respecting men of these countries are conspicuous by reason of their absence from the polls no rumor of it has reached the outer world.

Indeed, the best argument that can be advanced for giving women the right to vote is that wherever female suffrage has been tried it has worked out successfully, and there has never been a suggestion of depriving women of their rights and going back to the old order of a male oligarchy.

TELEPHONE DON'TS.

Temper Justice With Mercy In Your Treatment of Operators.

Do not allow yourself to get into the habit of long conversations over the telephone. People who do this lose all perception of the times when they may be annoying or disturbing others.

Particularly in the case of party wires is there call for consideration. Some one else may urgently desire to use this same telephone over which you are gossiping.

Do not use the telephone of the woman upon whom you are calling unless it is absolutely necessary. Thoughtless women often make a convenience of their friends in this respect. Your hostess may not wish to take you into the part of the house in which the telephone is situated, or when frequently done it may prove a considerable expense to her.

Do not call up men in business hours if you can possibly help it.

If it is necessary to do so, be as brief as possible.

Do not tell things which you do not wish known over the telephone. Conversations are often audible to all of the persons in the room with the person to whom you are talking.

If it is a business conversation it is well to think what you are going to say beforehand. Orders or requests are frequently misunderstood through the hesitation and changeableness of the person giving them.

Finally, temper justice with mercy in your treatment of the young woman operators who answer your calls. Their business is a tedious and wearin one, and it is almost impossible to be always eagerly attentive.

Rare Paintings on Stable Wall.

Emy Eichhorn, grandniece of Jean Louis Agassiz, famous American naturalist, has discovered paintings of high artistic merit on the walls of a stable in the village of Merna, in the Tyrol. Miss Eichhorn lives with her mother, who is a writer. The stable was once used as a chapel, but that fact was forgotten, and the paintings were covered with the dust and dirt of decades. Miss Eichhorn had the walls cleaned, and the pictures stood out clearly. They are in panels, and experts from Berlin are to examine them. An old villager remembered having seen the pictures when he was a boy, but he said "nobody thought they had any value." This attitude parallels that of country folk in the north of Ireland who whitewashed out of existence one of the most interesting relics of Dean Swift. He scribbled stray thoughts on the walls of a substantially built shanty of a single room. The place was preserved many years until a farmer went in one day with his bucket of whitewash and obliterated every word written by the cynical Swift. Miss Eichhorn is more fortunate in her pictures having escaped a coat of whitewash.

Wastebasket For the Kitchen.

One often reads in the woman's column, which is bristling with advice, that there should be a wastebasket in every room in the house, and if the tractable housekeeper does as she is bid it is probable that she puts one in every room in the house, with the exception of the room that needs one the most, the kitchen. Perhaps it never occurred to you to have one in the kitchen. In the days of the coal range it wasn't really needed there, but with a gas or gasoline stove it is a great help in keeping the kitchen in order. Try one under the kitchen table and see how many pieces of wrapping paper and string it will catch in the course of the day.

This is a bonafide offer--one which will pay you to investigate, even if you can only spare two hours per day. No investment required. Turn your spare time into money. Write me at once for particulars. Address Harriet M. Richards, Box 30, Woman's Building, Joliet, Illinois. 10-7-2

Do you have the dark brown taste in your mouth every morning when you awake? If so, you are bilious and should take two or three of those little BLOODINE LIVER PILLS, easy to take, never sicken, weaken or gripe, 25c mailed by The Bloodine Co., Inc. Boston, Mass.

You need not have Dyspepia or Indigestion, nor do you need to be troubled in any way with your stomach, if you will simply take Kodol at those times when you feel that you need it. Kodol is guaranteed to relieve you. If it fails your money will be refunded to you by the druggist from whom you purchased it. Kodol digests all the food you eat. It is pleasant to take. Sold by all druggists.

An Ingenious Interview.

An officer once asked Frederick the Great for an interview, which was granted on condition that he only said two words. He presented a petition. "Sire," he said, "sign!" Frederick, highly amused, surrendered.

Keep Out of Debt.

My first word to all men and boys who care to hear me is, Don't get into debt. Starve and go to heaven, but don't borrow. Don't buy things you can't pay for!—John Ruskin.

Our County at a Glance.

Pine Grove.

Howard Goss and wife spent Sunday at the James Hoover home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Reed came up from Boalsburg on Saturday and spent the day with relatives in town.

Alfred Musser came over from Clearfield to visit his parents, on Main street, and much to his delight found both much better than he expected.

On Saturday evening Mrs. J. B. Heberling made a lay-out to some of her friends in the shape of a delicious turkey supper. The good man of the house bagged a nice young wild turkey gobbler the first day's hunt. Needless to say the feast was thoroughly enjoyed by all who were so fortunate as to be present.

John B. Goheen is breaking ground for a new home.

Samuel Felty, of Altoona, has been visiting friends down in Pennsvalley the past week.

James M. Watt, of Tyrone, was here last week, viewing his broad and fertile acres and locating a colony of the frisky tribe to be in readiness for the first day's outing.

Mrs. Bella Love, of Arizona, who will be remembered as Bella Musser before her marriage, is visiting her many friends in this section.

J. R. Bailey, wife and mother enjoyed a drive to Bellefonte on Saturday to take a peep at the late fashions and bring home some beautiful samples.

The many friends of Grandmother Koch will be glad to learn of her recovery and that she will soon be able to be out again.

Grover C. Corl spent Sunday with his bosom friend, Fred R. Fry, at Fairbrook.

Grandmother Musser and her niece, Miss Grace Musser, are visiting friends at State College and Boalsburg. Mrs. Musser is past 86 years and is hale and hearty.

From the amount of firing along old Tussey on the first day of the hunting season game must have been plenty, but later reports proved the contrary. H. M. Krebs brought down four squirrels, Samuel Hess, three, and a number got two, while a lot of fellows had their expectations blighted and got nothing but their experience. Clyde and Luther Fishburn, Dr. A. S. Markel, J. B. Heberling, A. H. Hartswick, J. E. Everhart and Alfred Davis came in with five of the frisky tribe.

On Monday James Hoover peppered young Goodwin full of shot while squirrel hunting. It was purely accidental. Seeing something move in the brush he blazed away, filling Goodwin with shot. Dr. Houser removed a number but still a few are buried in the flesh. This is another warning to hunters. Better stop, look and listen before firing.

Just now after a lapse of over one hundred years our town is having a brick residence on Water street, erected by our merchant, J. N. Everts. Andrew Dennison, of Homer City, Pa., has the brick-laying contract. C. C. Heninger, of McElvey's Fort, is the carpenter and will no doubt display the finest workmanship for Mr. Everts.

Mrs. Sara Seners, of Thompsontown, is making a ten days' visit to her sister, Mrs. Warren Ward, at Baileyville.

The Lutheran parsonage is undergoing repairs. The improvements include a new roof.

W. H. Goss ia excavating his cellar to make room for a new heater furnace.

Grandmother Maria Goss is making her annual autumn visit at the N. J. Bell home, at Spruce Creek. She will be gone one month.

D. B. Lauder is laid up with a badly broken shoulder. He had just about recovered from a fracture of the other shoulder, the result of an accident last winter.

Communion services will be held in the Presbyterian church on Sunday, Oct. 31. Preparatory service will be held on the previous Friday evening and Saturday morning.

On Saturday evening the nimrods in the valley held their first meeting of the season. The Modocks decided to occupy their old quarters over at the Ross place. The Roosevelt Club will occupy their former quarters at the Six Mile Run in the Alleghenies.

We are in receipt of a photo of a group of history-makers of the survivors of the 45th Reg. Penna. Vols. Association, at Washington, D. C. If they wield the quill as well as they fired the gun as brave warriors no doubt they will put out a great account of the noble deeds of that famous Regiment. The group is composed of Major R. C. Cheesman, president; N. A. Lucas, vice president; A. D. Albright, secretary; W. A. Roberts, the banker. A jolly squad as ever lived and who recall the days when they were boys almost one-half a century ago.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Campbell, at Fairbrook, was the scene of a pleasant surprise party on Monday evening, when the house was thronged with friends ladened with tinware of many kinds and styles, reminding the bride and groom of ten years ago. The calithumpians led the way and gave the warning that the "Campbells are coming." Just as the family was about to retire the house was filled with well-wishers who produced their tinware as well as refreshments. For several hours everybody enjoyed a delightful time and none moreso than Mr. and Mrs. Campbell.

Ex-Postmaster J. C. Hess and wife expect to leave for Medina, Ohio, about Nov. 1, to spend the winter with their son-in-law, Charles Smith, who is a very able mechanic at that place. In order that he might have all the news from Centre county during their stay in Ohio Mr. Hess entered his name as a subscriber to "The Republican."

Two of our old and respected citizens were very unfortunate last week. G. W. Keichline is suffering considerably with his fractured leg, caused by a fall. Henry McCracken, a very successful farmer in the Glades, and about 80 years of age, also broke his leg, falling from a porch about five feet to the ground. The leg was fractured near the thigh and Mr. McCracken's condition is not as good as hoped for at this writing. The many friends of the two men sympathize with them in their misfortune and hope that their recovery may be rapid and thorough.

Nathan Dale, the hustling salesman for the Randolph & Tate Furniture Co., is out soliciting orders. Jacob Sunday and A. J. Tate, the senior members of the company, were Bellefonte visitors on Monday.

Mr. Truckmiller, of Watsontown, spent Sunday at the home of Rebecca Ard.

Edward Marks and Florence Kepler, both successful school teachers of Buffalo Run, visited at their respective homes over Sunday.

Miss Keller and several friends were royally entertained over Sunday at the home of Ezra Tressler, at Rock Springs.

Rev. A. A. Black held communion service in the Reformed church on Sunday morning.

James H. Peters, the hustling farmer and horse dealer, accompanied by his family, came up from the Glades to spend Sunday with his mother and attend communion service at the Reformed church.

John Homan and Walter Hoy, with their lady friends, enjoyed a drive to town on Sunday evening.

Waldo Homan, a frequent visitor to the home of David Krebs, was seen on our streets on Saturday.

Howard Wright, Lester Harper's right hand farmer, took Misses Jennie and Myrtle Harper to Scotia to visit their aunt, Mrs. Wm. Bottorf, over Sunday. Howard's mother says she "would like him to come over Sunday."

G. E. Harper, the progressive farmer and lumberman, has just finished a large double dwelling house on West College avenue and is also breaking ground for another.

Barber George Graham, Clark Herman State College Assessor, W. E. Stover and William Kennedy were on their way on Monday to Lock Haven to attend the State convention of the I. O. O. F. In addition to breaking the monotony for a few days Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Stover took the highest degree, the Cantonion.

J. L. F. Roan, the popular sale crier, was a Bellefonte visitor on Monday.

Aaronsburg.

Wilmer Stover and family made an auto trip to Mifflinburg on Thursday, returning home on Friday.

Mrs. J. E. Tinker and daughter Sarah, of Lement, visited at the home of Mrs. Lavina Linker on last Saturday.

Andrew Stover and wife, of Curwensville, are visiting friends and relatives here and in the valley.

Mrs. Mary Motter, John Stump, wife and three sons, of Altoona, who were visiting at the home of Mr. Stump's father, Edward Stump, returned home on Tuesday. Mrs. Motter is a sister of the elder Mr. Stump.

Merchant E. A. Bower, who spent a few days in Philadelphia, has returned with a full line of goods for his fall and winter trade.

On Saturday evening the citizens' band went to Millheim where they furnished the music for the opening of D. J. Neiman's clothing store.

R. F. Stover is still on the road selling gasoline engines for Landis Bros. Last week he sold at State College and this week is attending to business in Nittany valley. The superiority of the engines which Mr. Stover sells is that they can be started and run as easily on the coldest day as during the hottest time of summer.

At one o'clock, Friday, October 29, the executors of the estate of the late Israel Weaver will offer at public sale 100 acres of timber land situated north of Woodwood in Harris township.

Pine Glenn.

Mrs. Frank Holt and daughter, Helen, of Clearfield, are visiting the home of Samuel Beightol.

Quite a number of young people from Moshannon attended Epworth League on Sunday.

Charles Bowes, of Clearfield, is visiting his many friends at this place.

Rev. Mr. Ruch, of Snow Shoe, delivered a fine sermon in the Advent church on Saturday.

Wonder what the attraction is at Karthaus? Ask some of our Pine Glenn boys.

Mrs. Samuel Jones, of Washington, Pa., and Mrs. Shelon and Daniel Benton, of Tyrone, and Mrs. Ira Anderson, of Shanesville, were called to the home of Jessie Benton to attend the funeral of their grandson and nephew, Charles Benton.

Coopertown.

Fred Stem and family visited his mother-in-law on Sunday.

Nelson Shope is able to be about again. He has been sick for about three weeks, his trouble being a bilious attack, agravated by a bad cold.

The Straus men who have been stocking the sawmill on the McCafferty tract for Charles Bilger, have returned home for winter quarters. The rest of the men, however, are still busy sawing for Mr. Bilger.

Howard.

W. D. Cooke and wife represented the Howard congregation of the Christian church in the centennial convention of that denomination in Pittsburg last week. While there they visited Herbert Decker, at Pitcairn.

Mr. Bridgens, one of the foremen at the Howard brick works, moved from the old Buruside residence at the Furnace to Mill Hall, where he has been given similar employment.

Benjamin Wyland and family have moved from the Howard iron works to the Lucas property in town, formerly occupied by G. L. Williams.

Jerry Ryan, of Halstead, N. Y., a former resident and farmer of Curtin township, and well known in Howard, was greeting his many friends here last week.

Rev. Rhoads and daughter had as their guest last week Mrs. F. C. Houtz, of Philadelphia.

Mrs. L. C. Thompson was a visitor with friends in Belletonte on Thursday.

Since our last communication the grim harvester called hence two more of our number, one young man, Walter Wensel, and one ripe in years, John Edman. Proper notices appear elsewhere in this issue.

Now that the Johnson Ketchel scrap is settled and the Pirates have nailed the world's championship, the hunting season will engage our attention more or less, while we leave the Cook—Peary controversy for self-settlement.

Miss Josephine Muffly and Miss Margaret Sullivan, of the C. S. N. S., visited the former's parents over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Wetzler and Miss Grace Schenck, of Milesburg, were Sunday guests at the J. H. Schenck home.

Arthur M. Long was a business visitor to Lock Haven on Monday.

Chester A. Moore and Balser Weber were passengers to Williamsport on Monday.

The Empire Lumber company has disposed of its entire stock of fine lumber to a firm in Williamsport.

Mrs. Emma Allabach, of Lock Haven, attended the funeral of Mr. Edman on Monday.

Ex-Sheriff Henry Kline, of Bellefonte, was a visitor in town on Monday.

The home of I. R. Williams has been made more attractive by the erection of a handsome front porch, and the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Thomas is also being improved by the erection of a similar exterior addition.

Since the opening of the season several wild turkeys have been killed. Game of all kinds, however, is reported scarce. The opening of the rabbit season will probably make hunting more profitable as the bunnies are more plentiful than other game.

Samuel Robb, principal of the Milesburg schools, was a caller in town last week.

Mrs. Benjamin Lucas and son were guests at the parental home in Mt. Eagle over Sunday.

A. M. Hebel, of Curwensville, who filled the place of station agent for W. L. Cooke last week, left on Monday for Ramey.

Dr. W. H. Kochler, of Bellefonte, was the guest of friends in town over Sunday.

Father O'Hanlen, of Bellefonte, conducted the usual services here on Sunday.

W. H. Neff and son W. N. were passengers to Lock Haven on Sunday.

M. I. Gardner, of Bellefonte, visited his aged father over Sunday.

Joseph Loder was in Eagleville this week.

A. B. Weirick, of Altoona, was a guest under the parental roof over Sunday.

Mrs. C. V. Griver, of Williamsport, a former resident of the township, is visiting her many friends here this week.

The annual season of cider making is now well under way, but the harvest of apple juice is not as plentiful as for several years past. The cider is selling from $2.50 to $4.00.

The Howard Iron and Tool company has received its first consignment of stock preparatory to starting up in the near future. The resumption of work at this plant would be welcome by all as it has been idle for some time and work has been slack here for the past two seasons. When all departments are in operation it gives employment to a large number of men.

The approach of fall has set the women to house cleaning in earnest and the heating stoves are being made ready to defy the cold weather.

Blanchard

Mrs. Samuel Butler is suffering from a very severe attack of neuralgia.

Mrs. Hayes Pletcher is ill at the present time.

Thomas Bathurst and William Lingle spent last Saturday hunting in Josey's valley and talking to the fair damsels of that place.

The veteran bear trapper, T. S. Lingle, has set his traps and we hope he meets with success.

John Bathurst is spending ten days in the woods cooking for a party of bear hunters.

John Foresman, of Howard, visited his sister, Mrs. Rothrock.

The hunters in this vicinity have not met with much success: thus far the reports of an abundance of game prove to be untrue.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Gardner have returned from a week's visit at Pittsburg. They attended the Sabbath school convention.

Keeping the school boys from loafing in the stores and shops by the respective proprietors is an act commended by everybody.

Miss Cora B. Snyder, of State College, was in Blanchard on Wednesday last, exhibiting her new winter suits and coats.

John B. Shaw was taken suddenly ill on Saturday night but is some better at this writing.

David Bumgardner was seized with a stroke of paralysis last week. He is somewhat better at present.

Mrs. A. C. Williams, Maggie Heverly and brothers on Saturday visited their father who is seriously ill at the Lock Haven hospital.

Christ Stover, of New Jersey, is visiting his mother for several days.

One of the finest sermons ever preached in the Baptist church was listened to by a large congregation on Sunday morning last. Our pastor, Rev. Eldridge, is doing a good work here and leading souls out of darkness and into light.

Frank Smith is spending several days with his family before starting out on his business trip.

Charles Winslow, who is employed as a miner in the mines of the Pennsylvania Fire Brick Company, cut a deep gash in his scalp last Saturday. He was running into the mine to get his dinner pail, which he had forgotten, and his head struck a protruding piece of rock. The force of the blow felled him to the ground and when he emerged from the mine his face was covered with blood. After having his wound dressed he went home.

Mrs. Frank Gunsallus, who farms on the ridge opposite the bridge in Liberty township, would like the name and address of the hunters who shot two of her turkeys last Friday. Evidentally some hunters do not devote their attention strictly to wild turkeys.

Unionville.

Protracted services are in progress at the M. E. Church and some souls have been seeking for their redemption. May there be many more during this series of meetings.

The new Free Methodist minister preached his firsr sermon on last Sunday and the general opinion is that he will be able to fill the place very satisfactorily and do good work. He is not an entire stranger here; his boyhood home was up the valley a few miles, near Martha Furnace, and those who have known him all his life speak highly of him. The theme for his sermon on Sunday evening was "The Children of Israel Crossing the Red Sea." He used it as an illustration of why it was necessary for Pilgrims to pass through great difficulties, to make them strong and increase their faith.

Mrs. Dora Fisher has been busy storing her crop of apples which are fine for the season, and which she thinks will amountto about 3000 bushels.

David Pratt, wife and son, Riley, left on Tuesday morning for Johnstown where they will spend a few days.

Mrs. Riley Pratt is still in a serious condition; some days better and other days worse.

Mrs. Hannah Huston, of Tyrone visited friends in Unionville the other day.

Mr. and Mrs. John Spotts have moved into the house formerly occupied by the Deters family. Their daughter, Mrs. Lansberry, has purchased the property, for a home for her parents and her too daughters, while she herself is engaged in Tyrone as a nurse.

Calvin Huss, of Spring Mills, will give an entertainment of moving pictures and music in the town hall on Oct. 30.

The photographic car still stands here but the proprietor is absent for a few weeks. He had been doing quite a business here.

Mrs. Melissa Bing will close up her residence for the winter and make her home with Mrs. Samuel Brugar.

Judging from the amount of cabbage that is being shipped through here, there must have been quite a lot grown some where, though it is scarce and poor in this district.

How rapid the flight of time, when we think that fairs, picnics, camp-meetings, and summer excursions are all over. People are preparing for winter and next Christmas or Thanksgiving first.

Mt. Eagle.

The bridge men are busy putting on the stringers for the planks.

Our friend, Mr. Pletcher, who has been on the sick list for some time, is very poorly at this writing.

The weather man has given us quite a change; this time to cold weather, and last night cooked the goose of the pumpkin vines.

Shope's team is busy hauling lumber to Mt. Eagle for shipment.

J. K. Boney and family, who have been down in Union county for sometime, returned home on Monday, arriving with the rain storm.

Comrade Jacob Shank was out on Marsh Creek on Sunday and bought a pair of pigs to keep over the winter.

Mrs. Ward Daughenbaugh and daughter, Julia, walked to Howard on Saturday, returning on the afternoon train.

Mrs. Smeltzer was a Howard visitor recently, spending the day there attending to some shopping.

Our groceryman, J. F. Deitz, had quite a load of ducks and chickens down to Howard on Saturday.

Thad. Yearick loaded a car of railroad ties on Saturday at his sawmill on the Pletcher tract below town.

Miss Maude Deitz has bought the James Smeltzer property on the corner of Bald Eagle and Allegheny streets, so rumor has it.

Miss Thomas was a passenger East on Saturday morning.

Misses Anna Deitz and Florence Leathers, who are teaching school, were home over Sunday.

Mrs. Benjamin Lucas and child, of Howard, spent Sunday with her father, E. E. Heverly, at this place.

Billy Bower and Stanley Heverly have gone to Altoona, in search of employment. We wish them success.

James Reeder has returned to work at the mine bank.

Many persons regret that work on the new school building is not progressing more rapidly.

The only lucky hunter here on Friday was Leonard Deitz, who shot an eight-pound turkey.

Mrs. Clara McCullen, of Howard, tarried between trains on Saturday night at the home of her son, Alf. Strickland.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon, of Mackeyville, took dinner on Sunday with Mrs. Eldon's brother, Theodore Leathers.

State College.

On last Friday evening there was organized a large camp of the Royal Neighbors of America, in charge of Mrs. Mary E. Himstead, district deputy. The camp has 28 charter members. Mrs. L. M. McIntyre, Supervising Supreme Oracle, of Peoria, Ill., will be present at the November meeting. The officers are as follows:

Oracle, Mrs. Minnie Shaw.
Past Oracle, Mrs. Alice Thomas.
Vice Oracle, Mrs. Mae Goodling.
Chancellor, Mrs. Minnie Mingle.
Recorder, Mrs. Alice Sheasly.
Marshal, Mrs. Margaret Weibly.
Assistant Marshal, Miss Mable From.
Inner Sentinel, Mrs. Harter.
Outer Sentinel, Mrs. Taylor.

Graces, Misses Mary Johnstonbaugh, Verna Smith, Catherine Pearce and Agnes Corl.

Managers, Mrs. Frank Crosthwaite, Irving L. Foster.

Camp Physicians, Nannie M. Glenn, W. S. Glenn.

The State College horse show will be held on October 23. Provision has been made for all classes of horses. Anybody expecting to enter their horses should do so at once. The general secretary is W. L. Foster, who will gladly furnish information and entry blanks.

The first wintry blast struck State College last Saturday, with a few stray snow flakes.

Fritz Barrett, former University of Pittsburg quarterback, now playing fullback for State, returned yesterday after having spent several days at Bellefonte.

Big Bill Hollenbach, Penn's All-American fullback of last year, now coaching State's eleven, and Harry Vorhis and Bud Kelly attended the Budinger-Vorhis wedding at Snow Shoe on Wednesday.

Miss Margaret Garman, of Bellefonte, spent several days here last week.

Dr. John I. Robinson was confined to the house for several days with a bad attack of grip.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kline left last week for Clyde, Ohio, where they will visit relatives for some time.

The State College sportsmen, or Gun Club, have erected a trap-house at Foster's woods and are preparing for a busy season.

H. O. Swenk, of Johnstown, spent several days in town this week.

H. A. Leitzel is off on an automobile tour to Philadelphia and New York, planning to be in the former city for the Penn State-University football game on Saturday.

Superintendent Johnston, of Tyrone, made a flying trip through town in his automobile one day last week.

Mr. Grazier, of Warriors-Mark, spent several days last week at the home of H. A Leitzel.

H. W. Orwig, of Mifflinburg, was here several days ago.

Fowler.

The P. O. S. of A. held a festival at Hannah on Saturday evening. Those who attended report having had a most delightful time.

Leroy Nearhoof spent several days with his sister in Philadelphia.

J. T. Beckwith entertained a guest over Sunday.

W. T. Harper, of Unionville, passed through our village enroute to Tyrone.

George Walk entertained friends recently.

Mrs. Shultz, of Altoona, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Ada Lewis, several days ago.

Ephraim Stiner was in luck the other day, shooting a fine wild turkey.

Miss Bessie Peters entertained a friend from Altoona several days ago.

Proposed New Pension Law.

On another page of this issue of the "Sunday Call" the reader will find a bill by Capt. Theodore P. Rynder, of Milesburg, Centre county, for the equalization of the pensions now paid by the United States government to the soldiers and sailors who served in the Union army and navy during the Civil war. Captain Rynder is a veteran soldier, but would not be benefitted personally if his bill should become a law.

Captain Rynder has given the subject of pensions no little attention and study. He is far better qualified than most people to speak upon the matter. While we confess our inability to say upon the spur of the moment whether the bill is the best that could be framed to meet the demand for increased aid on the part of the fast ageing soldiers of almost half a century ago, we want to say that we heartily endorse any proposition that will keep the old soldiers out of want in the few years that the survivors can hope to remain in the land of the living. The Union soldiers are fast paying the last debt of nature and in a few years at the farthest the armies that answered the call for troops from the pen of Lincoln will be at rest. Let us not begrudge the survivors at this day the financial support that will keep them in comfort while they live.--From the Sunday Call, Easton, Pa.

Millheim

Aaron Mamolin, of Roanoke, Va., is visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. D. J. Neiman, for a few days. Mr. Mamolin was a former resident of this borough.

Quite a number of hunters were out last week, and they report that game, that is in season, is very scarce.

W. B. Rankin, the well known and reliable insurance man of Bellefonte, was in town one day last week, looking up insurance.

Joseph F. Bitner, of Spring Mills, shook hands with his many friends here last week. A good man.

Harry Clevenstine, in the employ of the Joseph Brothers of Bellefonte, was here last week putting down carpets in the new hall of the K. G. E.

H. M. Musser, H. W. Smith and W. P. Walker, of Bellefonte, transacted business here recently.

J. M. Mitterling, the well known cattle dealer, of Centre Hall, had business here last week.

W. C. Dougherty, of Lemont, was here one day last week.

Isaac Shawver, proprietor of the National, took in the base ball game at Pittsburg between Detroit and Pittsburg last week.

Some merchants have no ideas of their own but always follow the doings of wide awake merchants—not a thousand miles from Millheim.

Snow squalls last Saturday. The day was cold and windy.

Farmers are husking corn and report a very light yield and much soft corn.

Frank C. Waters, of Espy, a well known hardware salesman for Vallimont & Co., of Danville, died at his home last week. He had many warm friends in this county.

The grand opening at the store of D. L. Neiman & Co., last Saturday on the corner of Main and North streets, was a success. Hundreds of people, buyers and sightseers, thronged the store and at times it was impossible to gain an entrance. Every person received a souvenir of some kind. Ten clerks were required to wait on customers. This is one of the finest store rooms in Centre county. The Coburn band was engaged for the afternoon and the Aaronsburg band in the evening. Mr. Neiman is certainly to be congratulated on having this enterprise so fully consumniated.

The Farmers National Bank opened on last Saturday for business. Crowds of people visited the bank and a great many accounts were opened by business men and others. The Board of Directors met and the results of the business were away beyond their anticipation. John G. Eby, the cashier was kept very busy the entire day, and was fully competent to be able to give good satisfaction to all patrons and visitors. The President, Dr. G. S. Frank, and the Directors were busy entertaining the crowd. Many ladies were present. Quite a number of bank bills of other banks were exchanged for the Farmers National Bank notes. In the near future a ladies' reception room will be added, which will be appreciated.

Centre Hall.

We had quite a snow storm on Saturday.

Perry Krise and wife spent Saturday at the home of Prof. Wm. Stine on Main street.

Chestnuts have became a drag on market in Centre Hall, Merchant Emery having as high as 5 bushels at one time. They are selling at 8 cts. a quart.

Uncle Tom's Cabin had a very good crowd considering inclement weather. The play was very well presented.

The chestnut grove of G. H. Emerick, east of town, was open to one and all—old and young—lean and fat on Saturday.

PLUMP FOLKS AND THIN FOLKS

Samose Will Make People Fat "Money Back if it Fails" Says C. M. Parrish.

The line of beauty is a curve. Women may be thin and graceful, but not thin and beautiful. There is a vast number of plain, thin, scrawny people who are all brains and nerves, but without the strength and health that accompanies the standard weight. Good flesh and perfect health go together. A true flesh-forming food like Samose is absolutely necessary to many people.

No one can use this wonderful flesh-forming food for 10 days without a noticeable gain in flesh and strength. Carefully kept statistics show that out of every hundred people who begin the use of Samose, 98 per cent increase in weight and their health and strength are restored.

C. M. Parrish has so much confidence in this remarkable flesh forming food and health restorer that he is willing and glad to allow any customer to deposit 50c with the understanding that if it does not give a marked increase in good firm flesh the money will be returned without any questions. Sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50c.

Dr. Wm. E. Barker Makes a Remarkable Statement After Traveling from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

As he secured some of the most notable indorsements to his theory, he does not hesitate in saying that he will positively guarantee bloodine to cure some in the bladder or any kidney or bladder trouble, no matter how long you have been suffering. Ninty-seven per cent. of the entire population of the United States are afflicted with kidney or bladder trouble. In the last seven years bloodine has cured 96 per cent. of the cases that have been treated with it.

Hundreds of cases of hemorrhage of the bladder have been cured after treatment in some of the leading hospitals have failed to even relieve the patient. We are therefore confident that our theory of treating these cases with bloodine, is the only possible manner in which such a large percentage of cases can be cured, that we do not hesitate to guarantee the efficiency of bloodine.

Mr. Hanson, the business manager, of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Co., of Biddeford, Maine, had a stone in the bladder removed with six and one-half bottles of bloodine, after being told by all of the leading phsicians in his vicinity that the only way it could possibly be removed was by an operation. We stand ready to furnish positive proof of the above statement to any one doubting the truth of the same.

More than five million bottles of bloodine were sold in America last year. Can there be any greater evidence of merit than this unparelleled sale of a scientific product. No other product has ever met with such astounding sales in so short a period, and from a conservative estimate the sales this year will reach ten million bottles. 2880 bottles were sold in a single day in Cleveland, Ohio; 2160 bottles were sold in Rochester, N. Y., at the first day's introductory sale, and 1400 bottles in Paterson, N, J., in one day.

No scientific treatment has ever attained such success in America. We are now supplying druggists with bloodine, for the convenience of those wishing to convince themselves of its merits. If your druggist does not have it, The Bloodine Laboratories, Boston, Mass., will supply you with a six weeks' treatment (six bottles) for $2.50; 50c a bottle, trial sample and booklet 10c.

A Wonderful Radium Cure.

A wonderful cure through the agency of radium is reported as having been performed in the Flower Hospital, New York. A patient was taken there with a malignant tumor, the size of a child's head, in his abdomen. An ordinary operation offered not the slightest chance of a cure. Therefore, under the charge of Drs. William Dieffenbach and William Todd Helmuth, the patient submitted to what is claimed to be an entirely new method of treatment. This consisted of the injection of gelatine, impregnated with radium, into the tumor itself, which was reached by opening the abdominal cavity. At first it seemed likely the patient would die, but in a few days he gained strength, and at the end of five weeks he was greatly improved. Leslie's Weekly.

To Safe Life

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN:"

Insanity, tuberculosis and race suicide are on the increase for want of the knowledge and grit to partake high degree nourishment and the home markets to obtain food elements in consonance with the wants of physical conditions. Infirmities of the writer, a weak constitution at birth and now aged seventy-one, cured violent indigestion and tuberculosis by extensive observational and practice on hygiene, clothing, air, sunshine, baths, food, mixed or compound culinary of old-time brews, or roasted barley and hops in the kitchen boiler for beers and porter, and all-night stew of beef and lamb for breakfast. For specials the soup was allowed to cool and fat taken off, to obtain angelic broth. The latter one is a standard and with me dry, pure wine at meals, or ale for dinner and at night on retiring a glass of brown stout or Sweden porter of roasted barley and hops. That will cure nervous prostration when other treatment fails.

But, oh, where are American brews of the old standard! New York, Philadelphia, and Washington say nonobtainable. Barrel beers are sold with taxes paid, $3.50 to $5. American corn glucose, rice and other materials colored by burned sugar and cork--that's retailed at 5 cents per pint and 5 cents per half pint, and Germany pure beers, barley and hops, 10 cents per half pint, and the latter not obtainable in Bellefonte or Lock Haven and rarity to obtain pure wine by the glass. Hence excessive whiskey, brandy and gin consumption that I have not used for fifteen years.

Crawford County, Judge

"The act of June 27, 1905, second paragraph, the 'food' as used herein shall include all articles of food or drink used by man, whether simple, mixed or compound." He gives his opinion that alcholic drinks are not a food and there are many scientists protest by signed hygienic print of Public Ledger, and my personal practice and observation has proven that pure wines of matured ages and barley and hops, porter, ale and beers are food, and to allow brewers immunity from pure food laws is a violation of the constitution of the State and nation that promises protection to life and property and collect a revenue on beers made of anything. Its robbery and murder and have appealed to our four last generations and ten national presidents to have humanity excise laws and now plead for separate wine licenses for grocery stores, bottlers and restaurants to drink and low rate license holders not allowed to sell whisky, brandy, gin or rum. Yours faithfully,

JAMES WOLFENDEN,

The Baseball Spike.

And don't forget that this spike question will come up for some drastic action this winter. If the abolition of the present brutal shoe contrivance means that the game must be a little slower, the fan won't mind, provided the crippling of dozens of players every season is also done away with in consequence. If the spikes, even in a modified form, are to be continued, let every man who by accident or "over-enthusiasm" spikes a player be fined one hundred dollars for each offense. The average ball player thinks more of one hundred dollars than he does of his own life. About one such fine, and "the over-enthusiastic" one wouldn't spike a player again if he stayed in the game for fifty years. Men are penalized for throwing bats so as to hit catchers. Then why let a man with no more excuse for running amuck send men to the hospital and escape scot free? From Leslie's Weekly.

A Shocked Scot.

The London Chronicle says that two Englishmen recently touring in Scotland found that Sabbatarianism occasionally extends to the middle of the week. They were forced by the weather to take refuge in a small country hotel and after lunch adjourned to the billiard room to kill time until the rain stopped. The game had hardly started when the landlord entered in a very drunken condition, upbraided his visitors for their unseemly conduct and insisted on their leaving the billiard room. They received profuse apologies from the landlady. Her husband always got drunk on Sundays, she explained, but, mistaking the day, he had got drunk on Thursday instead, and from force of habit, believing it was Sunday, had been shocked at the click of the billiard balls.

Rebuked the Bishop.

The bishop of Petersburg, England, is a great motorist and is also a stanch teetotaler, and thereby hangs a tale. On one occasion, while out in his car, the chauffeur ran short of petrol and applied at a public house for some more. The publican came out, and, seeing the bishop in his episcopal dress in the car, said: "Yes, I've got plenty of petrol, but I don't sell it to the likes of them what never buys my beer."

"How can I do that, dear?" queried her aunt.

An Ordinance.

AN ORDINANCE granting the CENTRE COUNTY TRACTION COMPANY the privilege of constructing, maintaining and operating a street railway with necessary curves, turn-outs, switches, and cross-overs upon certain streets in the Borough of Bellefonte.

SECTION I. Be it ordained and enacted by the Council of the Borough of Bellefonte in council assembled and it is hereby ordained and enacted by authority of the same: That the CENTRE COUNTY TRACTION COMPANY be and the same is hereby granted the privilege of constructing, maintaining, and operating by electricity or any other power other than steam power, a single track railway with necessary curves, turn-outs, cross-overs, poles and wires, over and upon the following named streets in said borough, to wit:—Beginning at tracks of Central Railroad Company of Pennsylvania on West Lamb street; thence on West Lamb Street to North Water Street; thence on North Water Street to High Street; thence on High Street to South Spring street; thence on South Spring Street to Bishop Street; thence on Bishop Street to Allegheny Street; thence on Allegheny street to Linn Street; thence on Linn Street to Armor Street and return by same tracks to Water Street at the intersection of High and North and South Water Street; thence on South Water Street to Mill Street; thence on Mill Street to Borough line.

SECTION II. The consent hereby granted to the said CENTRE COUNTY TRACTION COMPANY to occupy the said several streets and highways or parts thereof shall be under and subject to the following terms, conditions and limitations, namely:—

(A) That the said Traction Company shall procure and apply the most modern and approved fenders and pilots, breaks, lights, gongs and appliances for the protection and safety of life and property in the operation of its railway lines in the borough and give proper alarms when approaching street crossings or persons and vehicles, and subject itself to all regulations and ordinances of the borough now or hereafter passed relating to the operation of street railways, or any thing in connection therewith. And in running cars, the speed within the limits of the borough shall not exceed ten (10) miles per hour.

(B) That the said company shall have plans and drafts of the location of its tracks, switches, sidings and turn-outs made and submitted to the Council, which, after approval shall be filed among the records of the council, and the said tracts, switches turn-outs and sidings shall be put down as called on said plans as directed by the borough engineer and the street committee. No sidings switches, or turn-outs shall be placed on any of the streets in front of, or along side of, any school buildings or grounds.

(C) The said railway shall not disturb the grades of the street and highways within the borough authorized to be occupied by its tracks, sidings, turn-outs and switches and after the same shall be laid and are in place the streets or highways shall immediately be paved and repaired as provided in paragraph (G), of this Section, and restored to grade, and thereafter the said Railway Company shall at no time permit its tracks in any part thereof to offer an undue and improper obstruction to the said highways or any of them, but shall keep its tracks, sidings, turn-outs and switches in good order and repair. And in case the authorities of said borough shall at any time hereafter change or alter the grade of any of the said streets or parts of streets whether occupied or not by the tracks of the said company so as to require the elevation or depression of the tracks at any point, the said company shall be and are hereby required, at their own cost and expense, to elevate or depress and place their tracks to conform to such changes of grade or grades in any of the aforesaid streets.

(D) The said railway company shall construct and complete said railway on all the streets herein specified within the time herein required and shall not hereafter abandon or remove the same or cease to operate the same on any of said streets without the consent of the borough council, and in case said railway or any part of the same shall be abandoned, such abandonment of same or parts of same shall work a forfeiture of the franchises and privileges herein granted, so far as pertains to such street or streets so abandoned.

(E) The said railway company shall at all times save and keep the borough of Bellefonte free from any and all damages that may be done or result to any person or property by reason of the construction and operation of its railway, and in case the said railway company shall at any time change its route or abandon any street or highway or any part thereof with the consent of the borough Council, it shall immediately take up and remove its rails and ties, and restore said street or highway or the part thereof abandoned, to good order and repair.

(F) The tracks of the said railway shall be laid in the centre of the said streets, except where turn-outs are built and except on such streets as the council shall otherwise direct, and shall be four (4) feet eight and one half (8½) inches in guage, and the said company shall use in the construction thereof the standard girder rail with flange, weighing not less than sixty (60) pounds to the yard and shall be so put down that the top of the rail shall be even with the grade or surface of the street.

(G) The said traction company shall pave the space of said streets or portions of streets herein mentioned between the rails with vitrified brick unless the said borough council shall otherwise direct; and the said traction company shall keep all of the said streets so occupied for two (2) feet six (6) inches in width on the outside of each rail at all times in such condition and repair as the other portion of the said street is kept and whenever at any time hereafter the said borough or the citizens thereof shall pave any of the said streets or parts of same, the said traction company shall at its own proper expense pave such streets or parts thereof for a space of two (2) feet six (6) inches on each side of its tracks with the same kind of material so that the entire paving of such streets or parts thereof shall be uniform.

(H) Whenever and wherever, under the provisions of this ordinance the said railway company is required to perform any work or make any alterations, improvements, or repairs on any of the said streets and it shall refuse or neglect to perform the same, the said borough may after five (5) days notice to said company proceed to perform such work or make such alterations, improvements, and repairs and shall collect the cost thereof together with an excess of twenty (20) per cent of the cost thereof as a penalty from the said railway company, to all of which the said railway company shall give its assent by its acceptance of this ordinance

(I) That work shall be commenced by the said traction company on its main line within the borough within one year, and the same shall be in full operation within two years from the date of acceptance of this ordinance, or all rights, consents and privileges hereby granted shall be null and void upon all streets and highways covered by the main line within said period, any delay however occasioned by the mandate of any court shall be an excuse for non-continuance of work during such order; provided however that the said company shall have three years from the day of acceptance of this ordinance to extend and complete any branch lines or extensions that may be applied for by said railway company and granted by the said borough.

(J) In case of fire or conflagration, or the alarm of fire the right of way on said streets must be yielded readily and at once to the fire apparatus of the borough, and the said company shall not by the running of its cars interfere with the use of the hose or other portion of said apparatus during the time of any fire. The fire patrol as well as each and every member of the fire department of the Borough of Bellefonte after any alarm of fire has been sounded or during the time of fire and also the police of the said borough, while on duty shall have the right to ride on all cars of said company free of charge. Provided however that said privilege shall extend only to such members of the fire department and police officers as shall display to the conductor a badge indicating their connection and affiliation with the said fire and police departments of the borough.

(K) That during the construction of said railway, said company shall not unnecessarily impede public travel on any of the streets aforesaid, removing all dirt and stone as hereinafter required.

SECTION III. That all poles erected by the said CENTRE COUNTY TRACTION COMPANY shall be erected, located and maintained as directed by the borough engineer and the street committee of council; they shall be straight and smooth and be painted and kept painted by the said company; they shall be placed in such a manner so as to cause the least possible obstruction and injury to the curb, sidewalk, gutter and street; shall be as few in number as possible, and shall be subject at all times to the use of the borough for stringing wires for its own use, not however in any form or manner to interfere with the operation of said railway; whenever and wherever poles are erected said company shall carefully replace the material excavated and relay in good order and repair all bricks, flagging, paving, curbing or guttering and shall at all times keep and maintain the pavements, curbs, gutters and streets around and about their said poles in good order and repair

SECTION IV. That all wires suspended over the streets by said traction company shall be at least eighteen (18) feet above the surface of the tracks, and shall be so fastened to the poles and to each other that they will be effectually insulated and properly secured.

SECTION V. The authorities of the said borough shall at all times by themselves, their servants workmen, agents and employees, have the right to make such repairs and improvements to the culverts, drains, sewers and water pipes running under, along, or near the surface of said railway tracks and to lay and maintain such additional drains, sewers, and water pipes as they may see proper, causing as little obstruction to the running of cars as possible; and whenever it shall be necessary for said purpose to remove the tracks of said company, the same shall on reasonable notice be removed and relaid by said company at the joint expense and charge of the said company and the Borough of Bellefonte.

SECTION VI. That any citizen, company or corporation to which the borough has heretofore granted, or may hereafter grant the right to lay gas pipes, steam pipes, or put down electric conduits on the streets of the borough or to make connection with any sewer or sewers, shall have the right to lay or put down such pipes or conduits and make all repairs thereto under and along the tracks of the said traction company, said work to be done in such manner as not to interfere with the traffic and the operation of the cars of the said company more than is necessary; but when excavations are made under or across the line of said road for the purpose herein specified, the person, company, or corporation making the said excavation shall solidly refill and repair the same without expense to the said traction company.

SECTION VII. The said traction company is hereby required to spread the snow that may accumulate upon or be thrown from its roadbed in such a manner that it will not interfere with travel by vehicles or otherwise along and upon the streets on which its line of road extends, or at street crossings,

SECTION VIII. This ordinance and the rights and privileges herein granted shall cease and determine and be forfeited in case said company shall at any time cease, fail or neglect to operate said road within the borough for a continuous period of thirty (30) days, unless said cessation be caused by riot, flood or other cause unavoidable with the said company; Provided however that no cars shall be run at intervals simply for the purpose of retaining and holding the franchise and right of way herein granted.

SECTION IX. The material excavated on any of the streets on which the tracks of the said Traction Company may be constructed and not needed by the said company, shall be removed by the said company at its own expense. If any such material is needed on any of the streets of the said borough it shall be delivered on such street or streets and at such place as the street committee may direct without cost to the borough.

SECTION X. That nothing herein contained shall be taken or construed to be an assumption of or release by the said borough of Bellefonte of any damages which may be claimed by the owner of any lot or occupant of any building in the said borough by reason of the putting down the said line of railway, the erection and maintenance of said poles and the stringing of wires thereon.

SECTION XI. The rights, privileges and franchises herein granted shall be and continue for ninety-nine (99) years. The said company shall after a period of ten (10) years from the date on which they begin to run cars, pay to the Borough of Bellefonte annually as license fees or consideration for the use and occupancy of the streets or portions of streets hereinbefor mentioned and granted, the sum of One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars, so long as the number of cars regularly run within the said borough shall not exceed five in number, and for all additional cars regularly run therein by said company in addition to the first five, said company shall pay to said borough the additional sum of twenty-five ($25.00) Dollars annually for each car regularly used.

SECTION XII. The fare from one point to another within the borough limits shall not exceed five (05) cents.

SECTION XIII. Wherein and wherever the service of the borough engineer is required under the provisions of this ordinance, such service shall be at the cost of the said Traction Company.

SECTION XIV. The provisions of this ordinance shall be binding upon the said CENTRE COUNTY TRACTION COMPANY, its successors, lessees and assigns.

SECTION XV. This ordinance shall be void and all the rights granted hereunder shall cease and be of no effect unless the said company, its successors, assigns and lessees shall within thirty (30) days after the passage and approval thereof file an acceptance of the same under their corporate seal with the secretary of the council and shall pay the cost of publishing this ordinance and the resolution of acceptance therewith.

TO THE TOWN COUNCIL of the Borough of Bellefonte, Pa.

GENTLEMEN:

We beg to advise you herewith, that at a regularly called meeting of the Board of Directors of the Centre County Traction Company, held on Monday, the 11th day of October, 1909, at 3 o'clock p. m. the following resolution was unanimously adopted.

"RESOLVED, that the ordinance adopted by the Town Council of the Borough of Bellefonte on the 11th day of September A. D. 1909, and approved the 11th day of September A. D. 1909, entitled "An Ordinance to authorize the Centre County Traction Company to construct, maintain and operate its road upon certain streets in the Borough of Bellefonte" be and the same is hereby accepted by the said Traction Company, and that notice of said acceptance shall be given by the President and Secretary of the said Traction Company to the Borough Council under the corporate seal of the said Company."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, we have hereunto attached the signature of the President and Secretary of the said Company, and its corporate seal duly attested.

W. U. HAGAN,
President.

L. T. MUNSON.
Secretary.

To Save Confusion When Moving.

If you are planning to move, prevent confusion in placing furniture in the new house in the following manner: In leisure moments prepare a large card for each room, to be tacked to the outside of the door-frame on moving-day. Assign a number and mark a card for each bedroom. Letter the other cards with the names of the other rooms. Then prepare a number of smaller tags, attaching a string to each (or use baggage-tags.) Mark enough to put on all furniture, trunks or boxes with the name of the room into which each is to be put. Show your movers the arrangement, and there will be little or no error in placing, while no valuable time and strength will be lost in directing.—Woman's Home Companion.

Frank Kreig, Sergeant of Police, writes: That he takes great pleasure in recommending Lincoln's Catarrh Balm to his friends after using it found that it cured him of catarrh, which he had for about eight years.

S. H. Walter, writes: That he was cured two years ago by using Lincoln's Catarrh Balm, and has not been trouble with it since.

Pottstown, Pa., June 8th, 1909.

This certifies that I had Catarrh and throat trouble for six years. One jar of Lincoln's Catarrh Balm in my case effected a complete and perfect cure, I would not take one hundred dollars for the good it has done me.

REMOVE GRADE CROSSINGS

Penna. R. R. Plans Further Protection for Passengers.

In furtherance of its policy of invariably avoiding grade crossings in all new and revised construction work, and of eliminating a rapidly as possible such crossings as are considered dangerous, the Pennsylvania Railroad, in making improvements on its Main Line between Altoona and Pittsburgh, will eliminate six crossings at highways over which there is heavy travel.

Work to be done at Greensburg, Pa., includes the removal of a tunnel, a change of grade, and the elimination of one grade crossing. In view of the large number of employes of the Cambria Steel Company who use the Station Street grade crossing at Johnstown, an overhead bridge is to be constructed at that point and an undergrade tunnel for pedestrians will be built just west of the passenger station.

At Gallitzin, West Chestnut Street crosses the Main Line tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad at grade and the plan of improvement calls for the construction of an undergrade bridge at this point. The grade crossings at the east end of Cresson are to be eliminated and a subway for pedestrians is being built just west of the station. The grade crossing at Grant Street in South Fork is to be abolished and an overhead bridge built in its place. The new bridge will span the Pennsylvania Main Line tracks, the Conemaugh River, and the tracks of the Summerhill Branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Between Johnstown and Altoona, a distance of 37.4 miles, there will remain but these important grade crossings, and preparations are being made for the abolition of one of these. Since January 1st, 1902 approximately seven and one-half years ago—44 grade crossings have been eliminated on the Pttsburgh Division. With the completion of the work now authorized there will have been removed 50 crossings at grade, leaving but 76 on the main passenger line between Pittsburg and Altoona.

HELPFUL WORDS

From a Bellefonte Citizen.

Is your back lame and painful?
Does it ache especially after exertion?
Is there a soreness in the kidney region?
These symptoms indicate weak kidneys;
There is danger in delay.
Weak kidneys fast get weaker.
Give your trouble prompt attention.
Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly.
They strengthen weak kidneys.
Read this Bellefonte testimony.

Hiram Fetterhoff, 26 West Bishop St., Bellefonte, Pa., says: "I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills as a first-class remedy for the kidneys. I had considerable annoyance from a weakness of the kidneys, and I also suffered from pains through these organs. Reading about Doan's Kidney Pills I procured a box at Green's Pharmacy, and used them according to directions. To my surprise they relieved me of all the annoyances and regulated the passages of the kidney secretions."

Twelfth-Night Cake.

Beat one fourth of a pound of butter to a cream, add one fourth of a pound of fine white sugar, three well-beaten eggs, a pinch of salt, two cupfuls of flour in which have been sifted two teaspoonfuls of baking-powder, the grated rind of half a lemon, one fourth of a pound of cleaned currants, one fourth of a pound of seeded raisins and two ounces of mixed candied peel cut in tiny chips. Beat all thoroughly together. Thoroughly wash and sterilize a button and a dime, and drop them in the dough. Turn into a cake-tin lined with buttered paper, and bake in a moderate oven until done. Let the cake get quite cold before icing it, then turn it upside down and ice the under side, as it will be even and smooth. For a rich and delicious icing make a thick paste with the whites of seven fresh eggs, two and one half pounds of pounds of powdered sugar and one half teaspoonful of lemon-juice. Spread it over the cake with a thin, broad-bladed knife or spatula, occasionally dipping it in cold water. Let the cake stand twenty four hours until the icing is hard. Ornament the cake in any way preferred. An English Twelfth-night cake is very pretty. After icing it as directed above, small red and white candles are arranged alternately over the hardened icing in the form of a star, each candle having a circle of pink-tinted icing piped around its base. The cake is garnished around its base with a thick wreath of red-berried holly, and before it is placed on the table the candles are lighted.—Woman's Home Companion for October.

PROPOSED SCHEDULE FOR THE FOREGOING PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION

A Cross (X) Marked in the Square at the right of the word "YES," indicates a vote FOR the Schedule.
A Cross (X) Marked in the Square at the right of the word "NO," indicates a vote AGAINST the Schedule.

That no inconvenience may arise from the changes in the Constitution of the Commonwealth, and in order to carry the same into complete operation, it is hereby declared that—
In the case of officers elected by the people, all terms of office fixed by act of Assembly at an odd number of years shall each be lengthened one year, but the Legislature may change the length of the term, provided the terms for which such officers are elected shall always be for an even number of years.
The above extension of official terms shall not affect officers elected at the general election of one thousand nine hundred and eight; nor any city, ward, borough, township, or election division officers, whose terms of office, under existing law, end in the year one thousand nine hundred and ten.
In the year one thousand nine hundred and ten the municipal election shall be held on the third Tuesday of February as heretofore; but all officers chosen at that election to an office the regular term of which is two years, and also all election officers and assessors chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven. All officers chosen at that election to offices the term of which is now four years, or is made four years by the operation of these amendments or this schedule, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirteen. All justices of the peace, magistrates, and aldermen, chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen. After the year nineteen hundred and ten, and until the Legislature shall otherwise provide, all terms of city, ward, borough, township, and election division officers shall begin on the first Monday of December in an odd numbered year.
All city, ward, borough, and township officers holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of December of that year.
All judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and also all county officers, holding office at that date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of January, one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

Claire B. Williams, who is rapidly climbing the ladder with the New York Central Railroad, visited at the Lyon home last week, departing for Philadelphia on Monday night.

J. H. France, of Philipsburg, has purchased the pretty home of J. H. Eskridge, at that place. The Eskridge family departed this week for California, which will be their home in the future.

James McNichols is hobbling about with a badly sprained ankle, the result of an accident while at work one day last week. It will take more than a sprained ankle to keep "Jimmie" carrying a cane very long.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Runkle, of Coatesville, are visiting old home friends in Bellefonte. Morris is making good as a druggist at Coatesville. He is a former Bellefonte boy and his many friends rejoice with him in his success.

The opening of the hunting season attracted many old-timers to the woods last week, although from all reports game was somewhat scarce or difficult to locate. John Nighthart succeeded in bagging a fine wild turkey. Many others did not fare so well. Henry C. Quigley was out for a day with his brother, "Dick," of Lock Haven and several others, so that there will be little use in hunters going near Blanchard for the balance of the season.

County Commissioner John Dunlap was last week elected treasurer of the County Commissioners' State Association at the annual State convention at Gettysburg. The next convention will be held at Wellsboro, Tioga county. Before adjourning the convention adopted a resolution directing that a committee draft a law for the punishment of tramps and "making a part of the penalty a period of manual labor on the public roads or public works or buildings of the county."

The faithful ones who delight in good clean comedy will have something to interest them on October 27, when "A Good Fellow" will be presented at Garman's opera house. This play is one of the best offerings of the season, containing all the qualities of success and the management is convinced that they have what the people want, appreciate and will patronize in the form of a play. "A Good Fellow" is constructed of laughing situations, and if you would bring good cheer to your mother, father, sister, brother or wife, insist upon their seeing this comedy.

John H. Wilson, manager of the Altoona office of the Western Union Telegraph Company, was visiting old Bellefonte friends last week and just as most everybody is doing these days, dropped in and entered his name as a subscriber to "The Republican." Several years ago John was manager of the Western Union office at this place and his work gave such saiisfaction that he was promoted to the Altoona office. John's success in developing business has put him in line for a broader field for the Western Union and one of these days he may land in charge of the Harrisburg office. Here's hoping so.

Work on the new school building has progressed so rapidly that the bricklayers are about through and the structure is almost ready to be placed under roof. The steel structure for the roof is being placed. We congratulate the contractors, Wallace and Miller, for the manner in which they have handled the matter up to the present time.

Captain Robert F. Hunter arrived home on Tuesday in his automobile, having completed a trip to Philadelphia and return. Mrs. Hunter and Miss Henrietta Butts, made the return journey from Harrisburg to Bellefonte by train. While Captain and Mrs. Hunter were away their children remained with Mr. and Mrs. Archie Allison and had so much fun that they were a wee bit sorry when the time came for them to go home.

John Bryan, the mail carrier, departed on Monday for Mercer, where he will make his future home with his daughter. John has many friends in Bellefonte who hope the closing years of his life will be passed in ease and comfort in his new home. Just before his departure he had the misfortune to loose his pocketbook, containing his railroad ticket and a few dollars. The finder will do a very nice thing by returning the same to Will. Chambers, at the post office.

The ordinance granting a franchise to the Centre County Traction Company for the use of certain streets in Bellefonte is published on another page of "The Republican." This is the company recently chartered and which proposes building a street railway from Milesburg to State College. The work of securing rights-of-way is being pushed as rapidly as possible and it is announced by the management that this part of the plans completed the actual work of construction will be begun. The ordinance granting the franchise in Bellefonte is an interesting document, showing what streets are to be used and just what are the relations between the borough and the company.

The parade of Stetson's big Uncle Tom's Cabin show on Tuesday was the most elaborate witnessed in Bellefonte for quite a while. There were two good bands and a number of fine ponies and bloodhounds. One of the features of the parade was a figure of a giant woman carried by a man who was covered by the draperies attached somewhere between the ears and hips of the wonderful creation. All progressed nicely until just about in front of the Bush House when the man stumbled and fell. The giant figure toppled forward into the mud. The man inside was unable to move and all of him that could be seen was his feet which were helplessly sticking out from the rear. Finally one of the members of the colored band had presence of mind enough to lift the fair damsel into an upright position, much to the amusement of the crowd and greatly to the satisfaction of the man entangled inside. In the mix-up, as often happens in real life, the "woman's" hat was knocked out of shape. With the repairing of this damage the parade procceded up High Street. In the evening the show pleased a large audience at Garman's Opera House.

A Bellefonte Boy's Work.

On Thursday, Thomas Cameron McGarvey of Bellefonte, spent the day among the business men of Tyrone, says the Tyrone "Herald." Mr. McGarvey is a natural born genius whose work with the brush and paint is bound to place him with the most famous artists living. He is a self-made lad and through hard work has entered upon a plane that is sure to make a name for himself. When only a small child young McGarvey would get brushes and paints and amazed the people by his wonderful art. Later in years in order to see work of the famous artists abroad he enlisted in the U. S. navy, and in the four years in the service he visited many foreign ports and received a splendid idea of what he must accomplish before taking his place in his profession. While abroad he visited studios in Paris, France; London, England; Naples, Rome and Florence, Italy; Berlin, Germany and Athens, Greece, and from artists of renown he received words of encouragement in his work. After he had fully satisfied his longings abroad he returned home to Bellefonte and is devoting his life and talents in producing upon canvas the beautiful scenes of the world. Mr. McGarvey had with him about two dozen of his small productions done in water color, and when shown to lovers of pretty scenes the people could scarcely realize that the young man standing before them had really done the work. His paintings are made up in water color, pastelle and oils, and have the touch and finish of an accomplished artist. His work was laid before W. E. Wise, the famous scenic artist of Tyrone, and he complimented the young man in the highest manner.

Belated Logic.

"Put yourself in my place, young man. Would you want your only daughter to marry a penniless youth?"

"Put yourself in my place, sir. Would you want to remain a penniless youth when there are rich men's daughters to marry?"

"You confess, then, that you marry my child simply for her father's wealth?"

"And you confess that you withhold her from me simply because of my poverty?"

"What other reason do I need?"

"What other reason could influence you?"

"This talk is quite useless."

"Quite."

"We have nothing to gain by it."

"Absolutely nothing."

"You take it philosophically."

"Why shouldn't I? Your daughter and I were married quietly a month ago."

"Great Scott!"—Puck.

Insanity In London.

Costermongers and engineers, one notes, rival each other in heading the list of maniacs provided by the commissioners in lunacy. If you don't want to be mad, be a clergyman. You will have about a one to a thousand chance of not dying in a lunatic asylum. It is a bit risky to be a literary or scientific person, but if you put your science into practice and become an engineer your prospect of lunacy jumps to the top, with only costermongers as your real rivals. Why this is is a mystery. It can't be intellect or hurry. Costermongers do not hurry, and they are not noticeably intellectual—London Chronicle.

The Englishman.

Just as there is no being more disliked in his own country than the Oxford man who displays what is (most unfairly) described as the Oxford manner, so there is nobody who does more harm to our good name abroad than the Englishman who carries his insular conceit all over the continent—his evident belief that the people, the country and the institutions under his condescending review are obviously and painfully inferior to those he has left behind him. That is the sort of optimism which has to be kicked out of a man before he becomes a tolerable citizen of the world.—London Outlook.

Trust Company Improvements.

Extensive improvements are planned at the Bellefonte Trust Company, that well known financial institution which is so frequently mentioned with favor by its many patrons. A feature will be the installation of individual safety deposit vaults which are found to be of the greatest advantage to depositors and others.

Young Folks

THE JONESES' VACATION.

Game Full of Bustle and Mirth Provoking Movement.

A game that children of any age will enjoy and which takes little preparation is the Jones' vacation. One of the girls is selected as Mrs. Jones and one of the boys as Mr. Jones. You have ready a suit case, and at a given signal Mr. and Mrs. Jones must unlock it and put on the things they find inside. It is a good idea to have a hat, long coat, a veil, scarf, gloves and pocketbook for Mrs. Jones and a coat, hat, collar (a large one), necktie and gloves for Mr. Jones. They must dress in these as quickly as possible, for some one is timing them, and then they must lock the suit case and rush off with it to the train. That must be the farthest point you can select, usually the front door. After they have hit the front door a good hard thump they must rush back again, take off the things and pack them again. Now it is the turn of another couple to be Mr. and Mrs. Jones, and when they all have tried the couple who made the trip in the shortest time are judged the winners.

It is well to use coats and hats that you do not need to treat carefully, for naturally they are apt to get rumpled in the excitement of the game. Don't forget the collar, in which you should put a large stud, for it always is interesting to see any one in a hurry struggle with a collar button.

The Hat Trick.

Practical joking, as a rule, is objectionable and not to be encouraged, but in the following no evil results can possibly happen, and the "victim" often enjoys the joke as much as those who planned it.

Take an old brush and saw off six inches of its handle. Into the shorter piece insert a needle headforemost and, placing your friend's hat centrally between the two pieces, press the needle well home. Now apparently the handle passes through the crown of the hat, the needle keeping all securely in position. Place the hat in a corner or elsewhere and wait results.

A Question of Age.

The great Napoleon, as you know, began his wonderful career when he was little more than a youth. When he was offered the command of the troops in Paris during the troubles that beset the directory some one objected to him on account of his youth. His answer to that objection is famous, "One grows old quickly on the field of battle." A ready witted lawyer made good use of that age question once after Napoleon became emperor. The lawyer had been recommended for appointment as the first judge of appeals, and some one presented him to the emperor. Napoleon seemed surprised at his youthful appearance and said: "You look quite young for such an office, monsieur. May I ask how old you are?" "The same age as that of your majesty when you won the battle of Marengo," answered the lawyer, and he got the appointment.—Chicago News.

The Game of Twilight.

To play the game called twilight each child takes the name of a flower, and seats are provided for all but one, who stands in the center and slowly spins a wooden plate, calling the name of a flower at the same time. The girl whose flower name is called leaps up to catch the plate before it falls, and the vacant chair is taken by the spinner. If the plate is not caught before it falls a forfeit is required from the one who fails to catch, unless it is plainly the fault of the spinner in not giving it a sufficient impetus, in which case she must try it over again.

If, instead of a flower, "twilight" is called, all change places and the one who fails to secure a seat becomes spinner. If "moonlight" is called all must sit still, and any one who jumps up is liable to forfeit. If "double twilight" is called a double change of seats is made.

Br'er Rabbit's Tail.

Have you ever noticed anything unusual about bunny's tail? Next time your mother is going to have rabbit for dinner if you will look you will discover on the end of bunny's very abbreviated brown tail a small tuft of white fur.

This white fur grows there, they say, so that when Mamma and Papa Rabbit are being pursued by hunters and are forced to run all the little bunnies can follow their elders by watching the little white spots. Most wild rabbits are a peculiar brown color, very near the color of the ground, and it is difficult to see them as they are being chased. And so that is the reason that small bunny, if he can't keep close to mother's side, keeps his eye on mother's tail.

Must Lie Still.

Every soldier knows that a horse will not step on a man intentionally. It is a standing order in the British cavalry that if a trooper should be dismounted he must lie still. If he does this the whole squadron is likely to pass over him without doing him injury.

The First Language.

No one of the existing languages has any legitimate claim to be considered the original of the family of languages, standing to the others as Latin, for instance, stands to Italian and French. Of an original primitive language of mankind the most patient research has found no trace. All of them—Assyrian, Phoenician, Hebrew, Arabic—are sister languages, pointing back to an earlier parent language, which has long disappeared. Since the historical period man has done little in the way of the absolute creation of language. The work had already been accomplished ages before the birth of written inscriptions.—New York American.

All His Own.

A young man and his sweetheart were walking together through lanes and fields.

The young man was rather of a bashful nature and had been paying attention to this same young woman for a considerable time without having plucked up courage to put the all important question.

On this particular night, however, he mustered sufficient pluck to ask her how she thought he was progressing with his courting. At the same time his arm stole round her waist.

"Well, Jack," said the girl quietly, "I think you are holding your own at present."

Her Playing.

Mrs. McDuff—This paper says that mice are attracted by music, but I don't believe it.

McDuff—Why not?

Mrs. McDuff—Because I never see any mice around when I play the piano.

McDuff—Well, that's no reason for doubting the paper's statement.
